Contemporary Africa Matthew Graham, 2018-10-12 This textbook offers a critical introduction to the study of Africa drawing on scholarship from a range of academic disciplines A comprehensive discussion of the continent's geography and history provides a backdrop to broad ranging coverage of its social economic political and cultural composition as well as its future prospects Moreover moving beyond the all too common tendency to view Africa as a single homogeneous entity Graham provides a nuanced overview that challenges preconceptions and stereotypes Written in a sophisticated yet accessible style and supported by a range of pedagogical features this book introduces undergraduate students from a range of different disciplinary backgrounds to the contemporary study of Africa
The Environment and Development in Africa
Moses K. Tesi, 2000-01-01 The premise of The Environment and Development in Africa is that current environmental problems in sub Saharan Africa are an outcome of the continent's development activities Whether these activities have generated economic growth and raised living standards or have led to growth without overall increases in living standards or have even contributed to a decline in people's well being developments in that region have produced effects that have degraded Africa's environment in many ways This book presents a comprehensive and systematic analysis of the context of the environmental issues facing sub Saharan African states Contributors discuss the problems associated with generating the capacity to manage Africa's environmental concerns assess the impact of economic development efforts on the region's environment and examine various societal and policy responses to environmental problems and to development problems linked to ecological decay This is an important book for scholars and policy advisors concerned with African studies and global environmental issues Contemporary Africa Toyin Falola, 2000 Contemporary Africa edited by Toyin Falola captures the challenges optimism and problems that face modern Africa notably those of economic underdevelopment and political instability African countries seek various answers and they have recorded varying degrees of success as they attempt to unite their peoples to build strong nations develop their economies and stabilize their politics Failures have equally been recorded in a number of places although these have not prevented the search for new solutions nor dampened the enthusiasm of Africans in liberating themselves from poverty Among the leading issues that the volume pays attention to are the achievements of independence the colonial legacy Africa's place in global affairs economic development political instability and the challenges of renewal in the 21st century This is the fifth volume in a series of textbooks entitled Africa Contributors to the volumes are African Studies teachers from a variety of schools and settings Writing from their individual areas of expertise these authors work together to break stereotypes about Africa focusing instead on the substantive issues of the African past from the perspectives of Africans themselves The organization of the books is flexible enough to suit the needs of any instructor and the texts include illustrations maps and timelines to make cultural and historical movements clearer Suggestions for further reading that will help students broaden their own interests are also included Africa challenges the accepted ways of studying Africa and encourages students who are eager to learn about the diversity of the African experience

Trade and Industrial Development in Africa Theresa Moyo,2014-12-29 This book revisits the perennial challenge that scholars economists and politicians have been grappling with since the 1960s Development in this book has been defined in a context that projects it as a multidimensional and complex process which seeks to enhance the human social economic and cultural welfare of the people This book calls for a rethinking of trade and industry for Africas development It uses data drawn from national development plans and strategies and trade and industry issues have been prioritized at the continental level in key policy documents On the whole Africas industry and trade performance have been poor in spite of national regional and continental plans The contributors to this volume propose some alternative strategies and policies which are necessary for trade and industry to grow and to contribute to the wellbeing of Africas people It calls for a developmental trade and industry policy which fundamentally must be people centred African states should invest time energy and resources to develop policies which will take into consideration African realities The different contributors are aware that Africa has experienced strong economic growth in the recent past but this growth has largely been due to a strong demand for Africas primary commodity exports It has also been a result of increases in productivity and domestic investment and remittances from Africans living in the Diaspora It is important to note that despite this unprecedented growth performance the impact of trade and industry on development has been limited The book arguesthat a structural transformation of Africas economies is inevitable if Africa is to achieve the shift from the dominant paradigm of production and export of primary goods The various contributors to this book agree that there is need to rethink policy and strategy in order to achieve industrial development in Africa There is no unique solution or answer that can fit all situations as African countries are not the same While Africa can draw lessons from other regions which have successfully industrialized this book argues that policies and strategies will have to be adapted to country specific situations and circumstances
