Water Reuse Robert B. Dean, Ebba Lund, 1981 Water reuse Robert Berridge Dean, 1981 Solutions to Water Crises (Related to Actual Interventions) Jenia Mukherjee, Saket Pande, Melissa Haeffner, Sara Marks, Pieter van Oel, Matthew R. Sanderson, Adriana Allen, 2024-01-26

This Research Topic is a part of the Delft 2021 1st Sociohydrology Conference series. To view the other sessions please follow the links below: Innovating a New Knowledge Base for Water Justice Studies, Hydrosocial Sociohydrology and Beyond Scale Issues in Human Water Systems, Water Resources and Human Behavior Analysis and Modeling of Coupled Water Human Systems, Feedbacks and Coevolution, Innovative Sensing, Observing, Measuring and Analysing Human Water Data. Pluralistic water research integrates the hydrological and the social to provide sustainable solutions to water crises. While relying upon robust quantitative modelling, sociohydrology captures crises across many waters: surface, ground and interstitial, along quantity and quality dimensions. Hydrosocial unfurls power hierarchies in access to safe and required quota of water, be it for drinking or irrigation purposes. The success of engineering solutions, laying out hard interventions such as solar powered irrigation, dams, high yielding crop varieties, water treatment plants and water distributions and purifications, depend on soft socio-political, cultural and psychological variables like the political landscape, community behaviours and governance arrangements. How these soft parameters limit or advance the effect of hard interventions await more enhanced modelling and place based qualitative analyses to disentangle various cause-effect pathways. While historical and process based sociohydrology accommodates detailed temporal datasets and causal relationships across human water systems, the hydrosocial paradigm reconciles non-modern, anti-hegemonic water techniques and knowledge systems, animating local agencies within specific hydrospheres. This issue is dedicated to capture real-time innovations through which water challenges have been confronted. It intends to unravel storylines along actionable water projects, reflecting on mediations across multiple actors and networks in specific spatio-temporal and cultural contexts, finally drawing our attention to the correlation between projected promises and actual realities. Situated at the crossroads of boundary work, we invite articles that will deploy a range of interdisciplinary frameworks like RANAS (Risk, Attitude, Norms, Ability and Self-regulation), APIE (Awareness, Participation, Involvement and Engagement), HUPE (Historical, Urban, Political Ecology) etc. to demonstrate coupled sociohydrological and hydrosocial realities and in turn get informed by empirical insights emanating from these actual water interventions. The final aim of the special issue is not to showcase water just actual interventions but to elicit a rigorous mapping of sustainable processes facilitating collective co-production of resilient water trajectories.

Water Remediation Methods and Wastewater Treatment Olusola Olaitan Ayeleru, Olawumi Sadare, Peter Apatu Olubambi, Sadanand Pandey, 2025-12-05

Water Remediation Methods and Wastewater Treatment is an essential guide focusing on water reuse, wastewater and wastewater applications for resource recovery and sustainability. The book's editors, all experts in the field, cover various physical, chemical and biological methods which are being utilized to provide a complete remediation to an extent where wastewater could be discharged safely into inland waterbodies or could be possibly reused for agriculture or other purposes The book provides an in depth analysis of the current strategies and tools that are used to address water pollution and the efficient treatment of contaminated water sources Using real life applications and case studies this comprehensive reference book is a necessary tool for students and researchers learning about waste remediation and wastewater treatment Provides introductory information on the removal and elimination of contaminants from wastewater Centers on the implications of circular economy concepts on wastewater treatment including energy capturing nutrient recovery material re use and material efficiency new partnerships and business models Offers insights on the latest approach in the synthesis of adsorbents hybrid of interconnection of wastewater treatment and challenges and future opportunities Includes detailed case studies with how to approaches to prepare students and researchers
