rather than being the central focus This collection of papers brings together a scholarly range of international interdisciplinary work on youth with a specific focus on the body The authors engage with conceptual empirical and pedagogical approaches which counteract perspectives that view young people s bodies primarily as problems to be managed or as sites of risk or deviance The authors demonstrate that a focus on the body allows us to explore a range of additional dimensions in seeking to understand the experiences of young people The research is situated across a range of sites in Australia North America Britain Canada Asia and Africa drawing on a range of disciplines including sociology education and cultural studies in the process This collection aims to demonstrate theoretically empirically and pedagogically the implications that emerge from a reframed approach to understanding children and youth by focusing on the body and embodiment
