Meeting of the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf* Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf. Meeting, 1961 List of members in 15th Applied Cognitive Research in K-3 Classrooms S. Kenneth Thurman, Catherine A. Fiorello, 2014-04-04 This volume summarizes research on important topics in cognitive research and discusses what must be done to apply this research in early elementary classrooms Purposefully it focuses on areas of cognitive research that have only recently begun to be studied in early elementary classrooms or that based on educational and psychological theory appear to have the greatest implications for early classroom learning Part 1 Cognitive Applications in Early Elementary Classrooms examines topics germane to the cognitive functioning of young children working memory executive functioning theory of mind phonemic awareness and neuropsychological processing in the context of early elementary classrooms Part 2 Considerations for Further Research Methods Policy and Issues looks at practical and methodological issues of which applied cognitive researchers must remain cognizant methodology research designs the gap between science and policy and means by which this gap can be diminished and the need to consider how issues like ecological validity individual differences treatment integrity and the relation between assessment and intervention are integral to designing applied cognitive research studies The current emphasis on empirically supported treatments and research based teaching and intervention in the schools and legislation such as No Child Left Behind and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act have focused attention on the scientific basis of educational practice However applying research to the environment of the schools is not an automatic process Bridging the gap has several prerequisites researchers must attend to the ecological validity of their studies universities must incorporate the results of research into their pre professional training programs and schools must support their inservice staff in developing new knowledge and skills Applied Cognitive Research in K 3 Classrooms contributes strongly to these goals not only by providing researchers professionals and graduate students in the fields of cognitive psychology school psychology educational psychology educational research and early elementary level education with current understanding but also helping to set an agenda for further research that applies cognitive psychology in early elementary classrooms

Risk and Protective Environmental Factors for Early Bilingual Language Acquisition Daniela Gatt,Ciara O'Toole,2019-07-09 Bilingual language exposure is highly variable with wide ranging influences on early language skills This underscores the need for understanding what to expect in early language acquisition so that those with typical language development can be differentiated from those who are struggling or at risk and so requiring early intervention One of the key ways to look at language development in very young children is to investigate their vocabulary development and for bilingual children this means measuring their abilities in both languages This book takes an important step in this direction it documents the expressive vocabularies of children aged 16 45 months who were exposed to different language pairs and bilingual contexts and investigates the risk and protective effects of various environmental factors In each of the six studies the vocabularies of typically developing children were measured using the vocabulary checklist of the MacArthur Bates Communicative Development Inventories and its adaptations to other languages Developmental and language background questionnaires provided additional information on children s developmental history risk factors for language impairment language exposure as well as parental education and occupation This harmonised methodology was designed within COST Action IS0804 Language Impairment in a Multilingual Society Linguistic Patterns and the Road to Assessment The outcomes of this cross linguistic research contribute towards answering theoretical questions regarding early bilingual vocabulary acquisition They also have clinical relevance potentially assisting speech language pathologists and those interested in early language development in distinguishing between clinically significant bilingual delays and the natural consequences of bilingual exposure This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Bilingual Education and Bilingualism

Assessing Multilingual Children Sharon Armon-Lotem,Jan de Jong,Natalia Meir,2015-04-28 Second language learners often produce language forms resembling those of children with Specific Language Impairment SLI At present professionals working in language assessment and education have only limited diagnostic instruments to distinguish language impaired migrant children from those who will eventually catch up with their monolingual peers This book presents a comprehensive set of tools for assessing the linguistic abilities of bilingual children It aims to disentangle effects of bilingualism from those of SLI making use of both models of bilingualism and models of language impairment The book s methods oriented focus will make it an essential handbook for practitioners who look for measures which could be adapted to a variety of languages in diverse communities as well as academic researchers
