Target Dresden:

Target Dresden Alan Cooper, 2005-09 On the night of February 13 14 796 Lancasters and 9 Mosquitoes of RAF Bomber Command dropped 1 478 tons of high explosive and 1 182 tons of incendiaries on the city A firestorm developed which led to large areas of the city being burned out At the time of the attack Dresden was crowded with refugees fleeing the advancing Soviet Army resulting in between 40 000 and 50 000 casualties On the morning of the 14th a second attack was carried out by the United States Army Air Force with two further US attacks mounted on February 15th and on March 2nd 1945 Why so close to the end of the war should a beautiful city a center for fine art and porcelain with arguably no tactical significance have been so completely obliterated by the British US Air Forces Was Dresden a legitimate target or was it merely a matter that the British and Americans wanted to demonstrate to the advancing Russians the power of their combined air forces Target Dresden chronicles the development of bombing from the earliest days through the Zeppelin and Gotha raids of the First World War to the development of strategic bombing of WWII and examines how it affected post war thinking Packed with facts Target Dresden gives the story behind the raids which were the most controversial conventional bombing attacks of World War Two

Target Leipzig Alan Cooper, 2009-11-19 A gripping account of the RAF's attempt to destroy a Messerschmitt factory in 1944 and the carnage and confusion that unfolded on a dark winter night Seventy nine heavy bombers failed to return from the catastrophic raid on the industrial city of Leipzig on the night of February 19 20 1944 Some 420 aircrew were killed and a further 131 became prisoners of war It was at that time the RAF's most costly raid of World War II by far The town was attacked in an attempt to destroy the Messerschmitt factory that was building the famous and deadly Bf 109 fighter The bomber stream flew into what appeared to be a trap It seemed that the Luftwaffe and anti aircraft guns were aware of the intended target and waiting to pounce as soon as the bombers crossed the coast They were subjected to constant attack by night fighters and intense flak until those aircraft that remained clawed their way home and secured relative safety over the North Sea This book analyzes what went wrong Espionage played a part and two bombers collided shortly after takeoff as did others as they wove their way through enemy searchlights and maneuvered violently to escape Luftwaffe night fighters At the outset poor navigational and meteorological briefings had hindered the bombers attempts to locate the target and confusion reigned The author explains the concept of this third raid on Leipzig and describes the two previous ones in October and December 1943 both of which had been deemed successes He looks at the third raid from every angle including the defending force's and describes the daylight raid that followed on the 20th by the USAAF The book also includes appendices listing all RAF aircraft and crew on the raid route maps and many photographs

Target Dresden Alan Cooper, 1995 The Path Finder Force Martin W. Bowman, 2016-03-30 Charged with the formidable task of locating and marking German targets for attack by the main force of Bomber Command the Path Finder Force 8 PFF Group and those in 5 Group was perhaps the most experienced and highly trained elite group created within the Royal Air Force during World War II Its aircrew members were almost entirely volunteers and despite the terrifying odds against any individual or complete crew ever completing the sixty sorties tour of operations with the PFF the most feared punishment was to forfeit their coveted Path Finder wings and be posted away to other units This remarkable evocation of a remarkable force is made up largely of narrative and photographs from the men who flew with or were an integral part of the PFF They alone are best qualified to recount the Path Finder story While the subject matter herein largely covers the four engined Stirlings Halifaxes and Lancasters and twin engined Mosquitoes of 8 PFF Group the Path Finding techniques used by 5 Group are not forgotten and there are two chapters detailing the work of the Oboe Mosquitoes and other markers in support of the night and day Main Force raids on German and Italian cities and individual targets in the Reich This book is a fitting tribute to the PFF and in particular to the crews who failed to return from the PFF s many operations The Myth of the Good War Jacques R. Pauwels,2015-03-06 In the spirit of historians Howard Zinn Gwynne Dyer and Noam Chomsky Jacques Pauwels focuses on the big picture Like them he seeks to find the real reasons for the actions of great powers and great leaders Familiar Second World War figures from Adolf Hitler to Franklin D Roosevelt and Joseph Stalin are portrayed in a new light in this book The decisions of Hitler and his Nazi government to go to war were not those of madmen Britain and the US were not allies fighting shoulder to shoulder with no motive except ridding the world of the evils of Nazism In Pauwels account the actions of the United States during the war years were heavily influenced by American corporations IBM GM Ford ITT and Standard Oil of New Jersey now called Exxon who were having a very profitable war selling oil armaments and equipment to both sides with money gushing everywhere Rather than analyzing Pearl Harbor as an unprovoked attack Pauwels notes that US generals boasted of their success in goading Japan into a war the Americans badly wanted One chilling account describes why President Truman insisted on using nuclear bombs against Japan when there was no military need to do so Another reveals that Churchill instructed his bombers to flatten Dresden and kill thousands when the war was already won to demonstrate British American strength to Stalin Leaders usually cast in a heroic mould in other books about this war look quite different here Nations that claimed a higher purpose in going to war are shown to have had far less idealistic motives The Second World War as Jacques Pauwels tells it was a good war only in myth The reality is far messier and far more revealing of the evils that come from conflicts between great powers and great leaders seeking to enrich their countries and dominate the world Flyers Far Away Michael Enright,2012-10-18 First one volume history covering Australian airmen in World War II The Eighth Passenger Miles Tripp,2002 Seven men brought together by chance from the four corners of the earth wake up day after day aware that the odds on them seeing another sunrise are dramatically shortening This is the story of a bomber crew in World War II always accompanied by an eighth passenger fear Target Manhattan Drew Mallory,1975 Zwinger Palace, Dresden John Man,1990 The Zwinger palace a baroque palace in Dresden was originally built in the 18th century at the behest of Augustus the Strong and was extensively restored after World War II This book examines the original architecture the work of restoration which aimed to replicate the original style and the paintings porcelain and scientific instruments that the palace houses Hiroshima Nagasaki Paul Ham,2011-11-01 With the world today on the brink of nuclear war and Japan again in the nuclear firing line award winning author Paul Ham describes what happened last time an atomic bomb fell on two cities The atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki killed more than 100 000 instantly mostly women children and the elderly Many hundreds of thousands more succumbed to their horrific injuries later or slowly perished of radiation related sickness Yet the bombs were our least abhorrent choice American leaders claimed at the time and still today most people believe they ended the Pacific War and saved millions of American and Japanese lives Ham challenges this view arguing that the bombings when Japan was on its knees were the culmination of a strategic Allied air war on enemy civilians that began in Germany and had till then exacted its most horrific death tolls in Dresden and Tokyo The war in Europe may have ended but it continued in the Pacific against a regime still looking to save face Ham describes the political manoeuvring and the scientific race to build the new atomic weapon He also gives powerful witness to its destruction through the eyes of eighty survivors from 12 year olds forced to work in war factories to wives and children who faced it alone reminding us that these two cities were full of ordinary people who suddenly out of a clear blue summer s sky felt the sun fall on their heads Operating Reactors Licensing Actions Summary ,1983 The Encyclopaedia Britannica Hugh Chisholm,1910 New York Review of the Telegraph and Telephone and Electrical Journal ,1906 The Last 100 Days John Toland,1990-10 No Prouder Place David L. Bashow,2005 No Prouder Place provides a fresh and objective look at the bombing campaign by emphasizing the highly significant role it played in defeating the Axis powers It is a story of sustained courage in the face of daunting odds as well as a celebration of the Canadian aircrew experience and its place in wartime Bomber Command The text contains scores of original recollections from the veterans themselves interwoven with material from primary archival and secondary sources It is illustrated with original art work by Ron Lowry including colour side profiles of selected Bomber Command from RCAF units and Luftwaffe aircraft The Encyclopædia Britannica ,1911 The Liberty Bell ,1976 Chemical and Engineering News ,1960 Bombs, Cities, and Civilians Conrad C. Crane,1993 As the might and capabilities of American airpower have grown during the last 60 years so has the controversy about its use in the intentional and indiscriminate wartime bombardment of civilians In Bombs Cities and Civilians Conrad Crane maintains that for the most part American airmen in World War II remained committed to precision bombing doctrine Instead of attacking densely populated urban areas simply to erode civilian morale Army Air Forces adhered to a policy that emphasised targeting key industrial and military sites He demonstrates that while the British Germans and Japanese routinely conducted indiscriminate aerial bombardment of enemy cities American airmen consistently stayed with daylight raids against carefully selected targets especially in Europe Daytime precision missions were usually far more dangerous than night area attacks but such Army Air

Forces tactics increased bombing efficiency and also reduced the risk of civilian casualties
