Key Issues in Translation Studies in China Lily Lim, Defeng Li, 2020-06-26. This book revisits a number of key issues in Chinese Translation Studies, reflecting on what Translation Studies researchers have achieved in the past and the extent to which the central issues have been addressed and what still needs to be done. A group of respected scholars share their expertise in order to identify some tangible directions and potential areas for future research. In addition, the book discusses a number of key themes: e.g. Translation Studies as a discipline and its essential characteristics; the cultural dimension in translator training; paradigms of curriculum design; the reform of assessment for professional qualification; acts and translation shifts; the principle of faithfulness in translation; and interpreter's cognitive processing routes. The book offers a useful reference guide for a broad readership, including graduate students, and shares insiders' accounts of various current topics and issues in Chinese Translation Studies. Given its scope, it is also a valuable resource for researchers interested in translation studies in the Chinese context.

Didactics of Translation Chakib Bnini, 2016-12-14. This book derives empirical evidence for the didactic value of translating texts in context through an experiment involving final-year undergraduate students who study translation as a basic component of their curriculum. A number of theoretical frameworks are invoked here most notably those of the discourse model elaborated by Hatim and Mason 1990 1997 and House's text analysis model 1997 Furthermore the study conducted draws on Hatim's multi stage curriculum translation design 2000 consisting of various stages representing an increasing degree of evaluativeness and difficulty

The Evolving Curriculum in Interpreter and Translator Education David B. Sawyer, Frank Austerlitz, Vanessa Enríquez Raído, 2019 The Evolving Curriculum in Interpreter and Translator Education Stakeholder perspectives and voices examines forces driving curriculum design implementation and reform in academic programs that prepare interpreters and translators for employment in the public and private sectors The evolution of the translating and interpreting professions and changes in teaching practices in higher education have led to fundamental shifts in how translating and interpreting knowledge skills and abilities are acquired in academic settings Changing conceptualizations of curricula processes of innovation and reform technology refinement of teaching methodologies specific to translating and interpreting and the emergence of collaborative institutional networks are examples of developments shaping curricula Written by noted stakeholders from both employer organizations and academic programs in many regions of the world the timely and useful contributions in this comprehensive international volume describe the impact of such forces on the conceptual foundations and frameworks of interpreter and translator education

Intersections in Language Planning and Policy Jean Fornasiero, Sarah M. A. Reed, Rob Amery, Eric Bouvet, Kayoko Enomoto, Hui Ling Xu, 2020-09-28 This volume encompasses the range of issues encountered by language scholars who teach and research in departments of languages and cultures within the higher education system predominantly in Australia but touching other universities worldwide Related studies on language planning methodology or pedagogy have focused on one or more of these same issues but rarely on their totality Intersections as a metaphor running discreetly through the essays in this volume connects them all to a lived reality The field of languages and cultures as it is practised and reflected upon in Australian universities is essentially an interdisciplinary and interconnecting space one in which linguistic and disciplinary diversities meet and join forces rather than collide or disperse along different pathways The international and local studies featured here focus on language planning new pedagogies and language reclamation and link to meeting points and commonalities They show that language scholars are increasingly finding themselves on common ground as they tackle issues of policy and practice affecting their field whether within their institutions within the tertiary system or within the framework of government policy
