World Lit Student:

World Literature (Student) James Stobaugh, 2012-12-13 Students will be immersed into some of the greatest World literature ever written in this well-crafted 34-week presentation of whole book or whole work selections from classic prose, poetry, and drama

Reexamining World Literature Richard Serrano, 2020-01-23 Serrano calls for a reassessment of the practice of World Literature with six case studies taken from the Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Korean, and Latin American traditions. Although in recent years the field has adopted more inclusive and wide-ranging criteria for college-level anthologies of World Literature and has seen the collection and publication of critical readers, book-length introductions, and even a history, the theoretical predisposition of most of its practitioners paradoxically has led to a shrinking of its horizons and a narrowing of its vision. Reexamining World Literature asks scholars to look beyond the current dominant definition of World Literature: works in English with broad reach or works in other languages with significant circulation in English translation in order to engage with a range of complex texts that elude the field's assumptions. World Literature need not be a world of shared values but instead should ask readers to question what those values are

World Literature After Empire Pieter Vanhove, 2021-07-28 This book makes the case that the idea of a world in the cultural and philosophical sense is not an exclusively Western phenomenon. During the Cold War and in the wake of decolonization, a plethora of historical attempts were made to reinvent the notions of world literature, world art, and philosophical universality from an anticolonial perspective. Contributing to recent debates on world literature, the postcolonial, and translatability, the book presents a series of interdisciplinary and multilingual case studies spanning Europe, the United States, and China. The case studies illustrate how individual anti-imperialist writers and artists set out to remake the conception of the world in their own image by offering a different perspective centered on questions of race, gender, sexuality, global inequality, and class. The book also discusses how international cultural organizations like the Afro-Asian Writers Bureau, UNESCO, and PEN International attempted to shape this debate across Cold War divides

World Literature as Geoculture Theo D'haen, 2026-01-22 World Literature as Geoculture applies a geopolitical perspective to literature. It considers literature along with all other cultural elements as both formed by and constitutive of a region's nation's or continent's global position. The book opens with a chapter discussing the general relation between geopolitics and world literature. It then turns to more detailed discussions of the relations between nation and literature, European literature, comparative literature, and translation, global south relations, the rise and fall of literary movements or currents as reflecting geopolitical shifts, and the position of small or minor literatures. Specific chapters focus on magical realism, Edward Said, Chinese comparative literature scholarship, and Flemish literature
