Southeast Asia Janadas Devan,1994

India in South Asia Amit Ranjan,2019-05-11 This book discusses the perceptions India has about its South Asian neighbours and how these neighbours in turn perceive India While analyzing these perceptions contributors who are eminent researchers in international relations have linked the past with present They have also examined the reasons for positive or negative opinions about the other and actors involved in constructing such opinions In 1947 after its independence India became part of a disturbed South Asia with countries embroiled in problems like boundary disputes identity related violence etc India itself inherited some of those problems and continues to walk the tight rope managing some of them Traditionally seventy years of India s South Asia policy can roughly be categorized into three overlapping phases The first one Nehruvian phase which viewed the region through a prism of an internationalist the second one interventionist phase tried to shape neighbours policies to suit India s interests and the third accommodative phase when policy makers attempted to accommodate the demands of the neighbours in India s policy discourses These are not ossified categories so one can find that policy adopted during one phase was also used in the other Keeping the above in mind the book discusses India s role in managing and navigating through challenges of the presence of external regional and international powers power rivalries in South Asia India s maritime policy and her relationship with extended neighbours and India being visualized as a soft power by South Asian countries It will certainly appeal to the academicians students journalists policy makers and all those who are interested in South Asian politics

South Asia In The New Decade: Challenges And Prospects Amitendu Palit,Gloria Spittel,2012-10-04 At the beginning of the second decade of the new millennium South Asia has emerged as a key regional variable in the contemporary global order The last decade saw the region experiencing a robust phase of economic growth and development Over time South Asia s economic progress is expected to accelerate given its favourable demography and strategic location The prospects of faster economic growth and development however will materialize depending upon the region's success in handling various challenges including security climate change political instability and ethnic strife It is in this context that the Sixth International Conference on South Asia brought together academics and policy specialists to provide insights and contribute to an understanding of the challenges and prospects facing the region in the new decade This volume is a collection of the papers presented at the Conference and assembles a large and diverse set of viewpoints and perceptions on the region

South Asia, 2004      The American "Pivot" to Asia. Military and Political Challenges and Implications for the US and Pacific-Asia Christian Rucker, 2016-04-26 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject Politics Political systems in general and in comparison grade 1-3 Friedrich Alexander University Erlangen Nuremberg Institut für Politische Wissenschaft course Mastercourse American Conflict and Crisis Management in the 21st Century language English abstract This paper aims to approach the subject of reorientation of the US foreign policy regarding the Pacific region Priority will be set on military and alliance policy factors of main parties involved first and foremost the USA Moreover the issues of the strategy of reorientation in itself and problems that are involved will be addressed In addition the following will be discussed characteristics and implementation options and the question of relevance as to how this reorientation towards Asia means neglecting other regions like the Near East and how the US are to bring their global claim of validity in conformity with it The US have a strong presence of seaborne airborne and ground based facilities numerous military materials as well as personnel are stationed in the state of Hawaii Alaska and Guam This includes troop concentrations in allied countries such as South Korea and Japan but also a rotating stationing of troops in some other partner countries within Pacific Asia such as the Philippines and Australia For some time past the USA have been turning towards the region of Southeast Asia and they are beginning to expand their political economical and military engagement in this region of the world There are diverse reasons for this such as an opening of new rising markets and the development of political and economical relations to significant emerging countries and perhaps future industrialized countries of the 21st century Another reason is China's ascent as an important player regarding international relations which are significant to the US as well as to future relations of both countries      SAARC, Challenges Ahead M. H. Syed, 2003      Big Brother Or Kind Neighbor?, 2006      The Challenge of Confidence-building Measures in South Asia Moonis Ahmar, 2001 This Book Is A Most Timely And Welcome Addition To The Growing Body Of Literature On CBMs In South Asia It Provides Reasons For Hope As There Are Many Reasons To Be Dispirited About The Absence Of Proper Confidence Building Measures In South Asia      Southeast Asian Affairs 1999 Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 1999 An annual review of significant developments and trends in the region Though the emphasis is on ASEAN countries developments in the broader Asia Pacific region are not ignored Provided by publisher      Asia's Security Challenges Wilfried A. Herrmann, 1998 The Asia Pacific Region has changed from a region of permanent crisis to a major economic growth area of the world This is mainly based on the stability of the region despite some conflict potentials Consequently the influence of new challenges for national security is of great importance for the analysis of the future developments of this region Security is one of the crucial needs for the individual as well as the nation or state A comprehensive security approach is recognised by most of the Asian nation states but most of the regional organisations in Asia are lacking it Nevertheless the coming era of globalisation increasing interdependence closer communication networks and a growing ecology factor will show the need for closer co operation and more regionalisation in order to fulfil the requirements of the nation state towards its inhabitants The chapters contained in this volume provide an invaluable guide to a modified security approach in Asia which can be the first step of building a common Asian security thinking The covering of major security challenges as well as the regional security panoramas and the selected country profiles provide a crucial overview concerning this complex problem The Challenge of Rebuilding Afghanistan Moonis Ahmar,2006 Proceedings of the International Workshop on the Challenge of Rebuilding Afghanistan held at Islamabad during 2 3 March 2005 Rising to the Challenge Avery Goldstein,2005 This book analyzes a rise in China s grand strategy for the early twenty first century and considers its consequences for international peace and security as well as the challenges it poses for policymakers The Soviet-Vietnamese Alliance and the Security of Southeast Asia ,1986 Southeast Asian Archives ,1969
