

William Blake is one of the most influential, but also one of the most perplexing, of all British artists. Probably best known for the reason of the hymn 'Jerusalem' and his poem 'The Tyger', he produced an enormously varied range of work, appealing to a more diverse audience than perhaps any other artist.

Published to accompany the largest Blake exhibition ever mounted, this catalogue displays the full range of his greatest works, focusing on his vision, his personal mythology, his political views and his highly idiosyncratic techniques.

Taking a fresh approach to the extraordinary breadth of his work, the book is divided into four thematic sections. An analysis of Blake's life-long interest in the Bible, both as a source of his own distinctive style and as an ideal of spiritual and artistic integrity, leads to a study of his life in Lambeth during the 1790s, when his radical political interests and innovative printmaking techniques came together in a totally new visionary art. This is followed by an investigation into the sources from which he developed his ideas, language and images – including an exploration of the key characters that populated his imaginative universes. The final section covers Blake's major illuminated books – including Songs of Innocence and of Experience, Europe and Jerusalem – the culmination of his highly original vision.

In accompanying essays Peter Ackroyd introduces Blake the man, exploring the apparent contradictions of his complex personality, while Marilyn Butler casts new light on Blake in the context of the social, cultural and literary environment of his time.

Peter Ackroyd is a biographer and novelist. His biographies include Blake, C.D. Lewis, Dylan and Thomas.

Marilyn Butler is Reader in English at Jesus College, Oxford. She has written widely on the poetry and prose of the Romantic period, including Romantic Subjunctives (Oxford University Press) and English Literature and its Background (Oxford).

Julian Manly is Senior Curator, Tate Collections, for the past ten years. He has curated a number of small Blake exhibitions at the Tate, and is the curator of a major Blake exhibition shown in Madrid and Barcelona in 2006.

Michael Phillips is Reader in the University of York. His most recent book is William Blake: The Creation of the Image from Manuscript to Illustrated Poem.
