porcelains comprised the output of most European ceramics factories in the 18th and 19th Centuries in response to the large quantity of armorial porcelain services that were being imported from China bearing the coats of arms and crests of aristocratic families Whereas these armorial services have been identified and covered for most porcelain manufactories the information relevant to their production by the two relatively short lived Nantgarw and Swansea China Works has not been addressed as a theme until now As an integral component of the holistic forensic appraisal of porcelain a functional and decorative artwork manifestly part of our cultural heritage and its ongoing preservation the recording and identification of such artefacts is material for the future establishment of a database of factory production The Nantgarw and Swansea factories only operated for a limited period in the second decade of the 19th Century and their porcelains were much appreciated for their high quality and desirability by Georgian households Today examples are to be found in many museums and ceramics collections and continue to excite the interest of specialists and the general public This text provides the first comprehensive assessment of armorial porcelains from these two factories and the methodology and procedure for the identification of unknown armorial bearings and crests is illustrated individual bearings are discussed in detail and existing incorrect assignments in the literature are re appraised The difficulties in attribution of armorial heraldic achievements that are only minimally depicted are considered and directions for further studies using historical documentation are invoked This book therefore fills a currently existing gap in the ceramics literature of the 19th Century

Museum Configurations John Peponis, 2023-12-19 Museum Configurations demonstrates how museum space functions cognitively and communicatively and questions whether it can be designed to provide a rich embodied experience situating displays and their public in felicitous dialogue Including contributions from authors working in the disciplines of architecture psychology museum studies history and the visual arts this volume addresses an interdisciplinary audience The analysis of a wealth of examples shows how the voices of architects curators and exhibition designers enter into dialogue and invite visitors to make their own connections between physical cognitive and affective space Considering how the layout of museums facilitates movement and orientation so that visitors may devote their attention to displays the book questions what kinds of visual attention characterizes museum experiences and how the design of museum space can support them In the context of an often dematerialized atomized and dissipating contemporary culture the book proposes that museums can function as shared space that supports enjoyment and learning without being overly didactic Museum Configurations focuses upon the functions and aims of the design of space This makes the book particularly interesting to academics and students working in exhibition design and museum architecture as well as to exhibition designers curators and architects

Edwards,2023-04-05 Heraldic devices first appeared on ceramics in Western Europe from the sixteenth century onwards however it was not until the 1760s that British ceramic manufactories began executing commissions for services displaying heraldic devices for the gentry This book explores the rise of the new gentry class and the market for armorial services through the case study of the Pendock Barry service The case study is presented from three angles It looks at Pendock Neale Barry 1757 1833 who commissioned the service then considers the evidence for attributing the service to the Derby factory during the period 1805 1810 and finally looks at the evidence supporting an attribution of the decoration to Billingsley The case study sets out a novel approach to understanding heraldic devices on ceramics by bringing together the disciplines of detailed genealogical research cultural knowledge and chemical analytical compositional data This multidisciplinary approach enables the armorial services to be considered and understood through the lens of heritage culture and science

The Heart-Shaped Tin Bee Wilson,2025-11-04 Heart wrenching and heartwarming in equal measure No one is so good at capturing the everyday magic of kitchens cooking and life as Bee Wilson Letitia Clark author of Bitter Honey One August day months after her marriage abruptly ended a heart shaped baking tin fell at Bee Wilson s feet the same one she had used to bake her wedding cake twenty three years prior This discovery struck a wave of emotions that propelled her search for others who have attached magical and personal properties to the objects in their kitchens Wilson s best selling Consider the Fork considered how kitchen items changed the way we eat in The Heart Shaped Tin she delves into how these objects change the way we live She meets people who open up about a favorite wooden spoon a salt shaker inherited from a parent and a vintage corkscrew collection Our beloved items become powerful symbols of identity and memory representing friendship grief love superstition safety and even political resistance Crossing continents cultures and time periods Wilson deftly moves between a 5 000 year old bottle for drinking chocolate and her children s favorite melon baller a metal spoon made by a Holocaust survivor and her mother s silver plated toast rack a bombarded Ukrainian kitchen cabinet and her grandfather s Wedgwood teapot In telling these stories she comes to terms with her grief over the dissolution of her marriage and the loss of her mother after a battle with dementia The heart shaped tin in the end becomes a moving reminder of the power of new beginnings Thoughtful tender and beautifully written The Heart Shaped Tin is a celebration of the fundamentally human urge to keep mementos even in an increasingly rational age It will change the way you look at both precious family heirlooms and humble household objects
