Wolfies Dream:

The Wolf Man's Magic Word Nicolas Abraham, Maria Torok, 2005-10-01 An innovative literary analysis of Freud's Wolf Man. The Wolf Man's Burden Lawrence Johnson, 2001 The Wolf Man was Sigmund Freud's most famous patient a man whose enigmatic childhood dream of being gazed at by wolves outside his bedroom window bedeviled the founding practitioners of psychoanalysis More than simply a rich source of imagery and meaning though the Wolf Man case might be interpreted as the primal scene of psychoanalysis itself Lawrence Johnson regards the creation of the psychoanalytic case study as the writing of two lives those of the analysand and the analyst so Freud's own biography and subjective viewpoint could hardly fail to bear a direct influence on the institution of psychoanalysis When Freud met the patient known as the Wolf Man Johnson maintains psychoanalysis was at an impasse because of Freud's inability to work through repressed material from his own childhood Freud overcame this impasse through a countertransference that cast his patient in the role of a rival for the control of psychoanalysis his means for vanquishing him set the terms for Freud's legacy to psychoanalysis Johnson offers a rigorous methodological framework for discussing the relationship between psychoanalytic writing and the lives of those who engage in it He fruitfully extends the work of Nicholas Abraham Maria Torok and Jacques Derrida into the realm of Freud's own life The result is both sophisticated psychobiography and psychoanalytic theory grounded firmly in historical lives

Replications Whitney Davis, 2010-11-01 The twelve interdisciplinary essays collected here explore what Whitney Davis calls replication in archaeology art history and psychoanalysis the sequential production of similar artifacts or images substitutable for one another in specific contexts of use Davis suggests that while archaeology deals with the physics of replication its material conditions and constraints psychoanalysis deals with the psychics of replication its mental conditions and constraints Because art history is equally interested in the material properties and in the personal and cultural meaning of artifacts and images it can mediate the interests of archaeology and psychoanalysis Thus Replications explores not only the differences between but also the common ground shared by archaeology art history and psychoanalysis focusing for example on their mutual interest in the style of artifacts or image making their need to treat the nonintentional or nonmeaningful element in production and their models of the subjective and social transmission of replications in the life history of persons and communities Replications is an original contribution to an emerging field of study in domains as diverse as philosophy cognitive science connoisseurship and cultural studies the intersection of the material and the meaningful in the human production of artifacts Davis develops formal models for and theories about this relationship exploring the ideas of a number of philosophers historians and critics and presenting his own distinctive conceptual analysis

The Artist-Philosopher and Poetic Hermeneutics George Smith, 2021-12-30 Focusing on the aesthetic representation of trauma George Smith outlines the nexus points between poetics and hermeneutics and shows how a particular kind of thinker the artist philosopher practices interpretation in an entirely different way from traditional hermeneutics Taking a transhistorical and global view Smith engages artists writers and thinkers from Western and non Western periods regions and cultures Thus we see that poetic hermeneutics reconstitutes philosophy and art as hybridizations of art and science the artist and the philosopher subject and object In turn the artist philosopher s poetic hermeneutic reconstitution of philosophy and art is meant to transform human consciousness This book will be of interest to artists and scholars working in studio practice art history aesthetics philosophy cultural studies history of ideas history of consciousness psychoanalytic studies myth studies literary studies and creative writing
