of tourism in rural areas the increased popularity of this type of tourism in the UK the series of BSE vCJD and foot and mouth crises in British food production and the cultural and ethnic fusion in British towns and cities it makes a particularly rich place in which to explore this subject The author concludes that the future of food and drink tourism lies in diversity and distinctiveness In an era of globalisation there is a particular desire to enjoy varied rather than mono cultural ambiance and experience She also notes that there is an immediacy of gratification in food and drink consumption which has become a general requirement of contemporary society
