User Interface Management Systems Models:

User Interface Management Systems Dan R. Olsen, 1992 For professional programmers explains all the major approaches to implement user interface management systems as tools to construct effective and practical computer interfaces Provides the key algorithms and discusses the models for describing dialogs Also suitable as a textbook for a programming course

User Interface Management Systems Günther E. Pfaff, 2012-12-06 The book contains the proceedings and reports of the Workshop on User Interface Management Systems held in Seeheim Federal Republic of Germany November 1-3 1983 The workshop brought together experts in using and developing techniques for managing the dialogue between users and interactive graphics systems The purpose of the workshop was to produce an agreed report contrasting existing approaches and outlining directions for future work Four different areas were defined and addressed at the workshop namely a role model structure and construction of a UIMS b dialogue specification tools c interface of the UIMS to the application d user's conceptual model All participants prepared papers each in one of those problem areas The papers have been rewritten in the light of the issues discussed during the workshop Also a subgroup report was produced for each problem area summarizing the results of the discussions at the workshop Preface User Interface Management Systems UIMS are the mediators between the user and the application programs As more and more interactive programs become widely available methods and techniques of designing and implementing acceptable user interfaces have to be investigated Since many years research on the design of user interface management systems is going on This EUROGRAPHICS Workshop follows from the ACM SIGGRAPH Workshop on Graphical Input and Interaction Techniques of May 1982 in Seattle see Computer Graphics 17 1 1983 and the IFIP WG 5 User Interface Management and Design David A. Duce, M. Rui Gomes, F. Robert A. Hopgood, John R. Lee, 2012-12-06 This volume is a record of the Workshop on User Interface Management Systems and Environments held at INESC Lisbon Portugal between 4 and 6 June 1990 The main impetus for the workshop came from the Graphics and Interaction in ESPRIT Technical Interest Group of the European Community ESPRIT Programme The Graphics and Interaction in ESPRIT Technical Interest Group arose from a meeting of researchers held in Brussels in May 1988 which identified a number of technical areas of common interest across a significant number of ESPRIT I and ESPRIT II projects It was recognized that there was a need to share information on such activities between projects to disseminate results from the projects to the world at large and for projects to be aware of related activities elsewhere in the world The need for a Technical Interest Group was confirmed at a meeting held during ESPRIT Technical Week in November 1989 attended by over 50 representatives from ESPRIT projects and the Commission of the European Communities Information exchange sessions were organized during the EUROGRAPHICS 89 conference with the intention of disseminating information from ESPRIT projects to the wider research and development community both in Europe and beyond User Interface Design Siegfried Treu, 2012-12-06 Solidly founded on 25 years of research and teaching the author integrates the salient features of the subdisciplines of computer science into a comprehensive conceptual framework for the design of human computer interfaces He combines definitions models taxonomies structures and techniques with extensive references and citations to provide professors and students of all levels with a text and practical reference Interfaces to Database Systems (IDS92) Richard Cooper, 2012-12-06 Despite the volume of research carried out into the design of database systems and the design of user interfaces there is little cross fertilization between the two areas The control of user interfaces to database systems is therefore significantly less advanced than other aspects of DBMS design As database functionality is used in a wider range of areas such as design applications the suitability of the user interface is becoming increasingly important It is therefore necessary to begin applying the knowledge developed by HCI researchers to the specialised domain of database systems This volume contains revised papers from the International Workshop on Interfaces to Database Systems held in Glasgow 1 3 July 1992 The workshop aimed to develop an interaction between the design of database systems and user interfaces It discussed both the production of interfaces tailored to particular applications and also more general systems within which interfaces can be developed Some of the papers concentrate on usability aspects some discuss different interface metaphors whilst others tackle the question of designing a general conceptual model The latter topic is of particular importance as it is only by achieving an abstract model of what the user understands to be in the database that the data can be associated with appropriate interface facilities Among the contents of the volume are integrated interfaces to publicly available databases database query interface for medical information systems an integrated approach to task oriented database retrieval interfaces GRADI a graphical database interface for a multimedia DBMS cognitive view mechanism for multimedia information systems a graphical schema representation for object oriented databases a conceptual framework for error analysis in SQL interfaces a browser for a version entity relationship database Interfaces to Database Systems IDS92 is unique in that it brings together a variety of approaches from the database and HCI research communities It will provide essential reading for researchers of database systems and also industrial developers of DBMS Proceedings of the ACM Symposium on User Interface Software and Technology, 1992 The Design and Implementation of a Visual User Interface for a Structured Model Management System David D.
