Tnt Jackson:

Women of Blaxploitation Yvonne D. Sims,2015-03-26 With the Civil Rights movement of the sixties fresh in their perspective movie producers of the early 1970s began to make films aimed toward the underserved African American audience Over the next five years or so a number of cheaply made so called blaxploitation movies featured African American actresses in roles which broke traditional molds Typically long on flash and violence but lacking in character depth and development this genre nonetheless did a great deal toward redefining the perception of African American actresses breaking traditional African American female stereotypes and laying the groundwork for later feminine action heroines This critical study examines the ways in which the blaxploitation heroines of the early 1970s reshaped the presentation of African American actresses on screen and to a certain degree the perception of African American females in general It discusses the social political and cultural context in which blaxploitation films emerged The work focuses on four African American actresses Pam Grier Tamara Dobson Teresa Graves and Jeanne Belle providing critical and audience response to their films as well as insight into the perspectives of the actresses themselves The eventual demise of the blaxploitation genre due to formulaic plots and lack of character development is also discussed Finally the work addresses the mainstreaming of the action heroine in general and a recent resurgence of interest in black action movies Relevant film stills and a selected filmography including cast list and plot synopsis are also included Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Review and Evaluation of Alternative Technologies for Demilitarization of Assembled Chemical Weapons National Research Council,Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences,Commission on Engineering and Technical Systems,Committee on Review and Evaluation of Alternative Technologies for Demilitarization of Assembled Chemical Weapons,1999-12-24 This report examines seven disposal technologies being considered by the U S government as alternative methods to the process of incineration for destroying mortars rockets land mines and other weapons that contain chemical warfare agents such as mustard gas These weapons are considered especially dangerous because they contain both chemical warfare agent and explosive materials in an assembled package that must be disassembled for destruction The study identifies the strengths and weaknesses and advantages and disadvantages of each technology and assesses their potential for full scale implementation
