Bevan, Paul Moorhouse, 2011-01-01 Tony Bevan b 1951 is one of Britain's most distinctive figurative painters. Since the early 1980s he has been making images in acrylic and charcoal that extend the tradition of expressive figure-based painting associated with such older painters as Francis Bacon and Frank Auerbach. Bevan's singular approach focuses in particular on the human head, which is frequently enlarged, often isolated, and usually abstracted by being reduced to a structure of vector-like lines and marks. Such taut linear structures are descriptive but also evoke the artist's exploration of character, mood, and psychic states. Bevan's approach to portraiture is thus inherently and assertively subjective, transforming literal appearance through the implication of complex and ambiguous emotion. This display comprises a focused group of self-portraits made since the 1980s and succinctly traces the development of the artist's interrogation of his own image as subject. Messerschmidt and Modernity Antonia Boström, 2012-09-12 An astonishing group of sixty-nine Character Heads by German sculptor Franz Xaver Messerschmidt (1736-1783) has fascinated viewers, artists, and collectors for more than two centuries. The heads, carved in alabaster or cast in lead or tin alloy, were conceived outside the norm of conventional portrait sculpture and explore the furthest limits of human expression. Since their first exposure to the public in 1793, artists including Egon Schiele (1890-1918), Francis Bacon (1909-1992), Arnulf Rainer (born 1929), and more recently Tony Cragg (born 1949) and Tony Bevan (born 1951) have responded to their overwhelming visual power. Lavishly illustrated, Messerschmidt and Modernity presents remarkable works created by and inspired by Messerschmidt, an artist both of and ahead of his time. The Character Heads situate the artist's work squarely within the eighteenth-century European Enlightenment, with its focus on expression and emotion. Yet their uncompromising style stands in sharp contrast to the florid Baroque style of Messerschmidt's earlier sculptures for the court of Empress Maria Theresa of Austria. With their strict frontality and narrow silhouettes, the Character Heads appear to contemporary eyes as having been conceived in a modern aesthetic. Their position at the apparent limits of rational art has made them compelling to successive generations of artists working in a variety of media.

Politics, Pride and Perversion Erik Eklund, 2025-03-06 Frank Arkell (1929-1998) was the most successful politician of his generation, an Independent who served as Wollongong's Lord Mayor (1974-1991) and state member (1984-1991). Arkell dominated Wollongong public life with unstoppable energy, eccentric flair, and a single-minded determination to support the city through economic restructuring. Despite his popularity at the edges of public consciousness, there was growing disquiet over Arkell's private life. A compelling biography, Eklund provides a nuanced exploration of Arkell's relentless efforts to transform Wollongong from a steel city to the Leisure Coast, as well as his connections to an extensive
