Noah's Ark II: Annihilation and Revival of the Human Race Dr. Z. Gilead,2021-11-09 Nowadays most of us and not only Englishmen often talk about the weather and our climate We sit at night in front of our TV sets and various meteorologists and environmental experts tell us that our planet is rapidly heating up and drying up because of the effect of the man-made greenhouse gases The meteorologists and environmental experts claim that these calamities are but an introduction to two imminent and much worse catastrophes We hear these warnings of the climatologists with trepidation but leave the fight against the culprit greenhouse gases to our heads of state They signed at least two treaties against the world's gas pollution but implemented them very feebly If they fail their duty to the world what can we ordinary citizens do to ward off the danger

Therefore we shrug our shoulders hopelessly nervously chew our fingernails and continue with our mundane lives However I a retired scientist fearing for the fate of my children and grandchildren could not remain idle I decided to join the fight against the greenhouse gases to the best of my ability however small it may be I planned to write an extremely alarming Science Fiction novel that will scare my readers and cause at least them to join the protest marches against the irresponsible neglect of our politicians Short of mutinying against our current leaders we can only demonstrate and march Consequently I wrote an alarming SF novel in the hope that it might persuade the readers to join the millions who are now inspired by the Swedish teenage activist Greta Thunberg and protest also in the social networks against the gas pollution Unfortunately the Corona plague nowadays curbs more impressive protesting
