Tyler's Family Provision Richard D. Oughton, Edward Lawson Griffin Tyler, 1997 This book answers two questions firstly the practical question of whether a particular applicant is entitled to be awarded provision by the court and if so how much and secondly the theoretical question of why such an award is made This edition is fully amended and updated in accordance with legal developments since the second edition including expansion of the Appendices to include the text of the 1975 Act as amended the relevant Rules of Court and precedents as well as unreported cases and case summaries The detailed practical approach is reinforced by the inclusion of checklists and flowcharts Tyler's Family Provision R. D. Oughton, 1998-12-01 This book answers two questions firstly the practical question of whether a particular applicant is entitled to be awarded provision by the court and if so how much and secondly the theoretical question of why such an award is made Family Provision Rosalind F. Atherton, Rosalind Frances Croucher, 1997 Mandatory Family Protection Kenneth G. C. Reid, Marius Johannes De Waal, Reinhard Zimmermann, 2020 This book is about the protection from disinheritance Regardless of what a person's will might say the closest relatives usually have a claim to some of the deceased's property The book explores this issue in a sample of countries in Europe as well as in the USA Canada Latin America China South Africa Australia and New Zealand Family Provision John G. Ross Martyn, 1985 Tyler's Quarterly Historical and Genealogical Magazine, 1930 Claiming a Promised Inheritance Alexandra Braun, 2022-08-11 Claiming a Promised Inheritance examines those cases where a person is promised a future inheritance and having acted on it later discovers that the promise is unfulfilled The book structures its analysis and argument around the stories of disappointed promisees and their unfulfilled expectations of a future inheritance and how they might seek redress It maps and compares the various and often very diverse range of legal responses that a promisee can avail herself of across different legal areas of the law ranging from contract law to property law employment law unjust and unjustified enrichment law and succession law and in both common and civil law traditions Braun asks how these responses protect the interests of promisees and whether they are sensitive to the context in which such promises are expressed In doing so the focus rests on the level of protection the various forms of redress grant their scope and the challenges promisees face when bringing a claim but also on the values and interests that are at stake when granting relief This book argues that due to the social and legal context within which promises of a future inheritance are normally made promisees are usually in a vulnerable position that can easily be exploited It further argues that the law is usually more acutely attuned to the risks that the promisor incurs and that greater attention should be paid to the challenges promisees face Claiming a Promised Inheritance thus complements the traditional viewpoint by bringing into focus the too often ignored perspective of promisees Tyler's Quarterly Historical and Genealogical Magazine Lyon Gardiner Tyler, 1930 The Modern Law of Family Provision John G. Ross Martyn, 1978 Family Law in the Twentieth Century Stephen Michael Cretney, 2003 The law governing family relationships has changed dramatically in
