Eva zu Beck

Wilder Way:

The Wilder Way Eva zu Beck, 2026-05-07 An inspiring story of one woman adventuring the world solo from top YouTuber and travel filmmaker Eva zu Beck Eva has it all a high flying job a picture perfect marriage a lifestyle that many would aspire to Yet she can't shake the feeling that she is living someone else's dream After hitting rock bottom she buys a one way ticket to Nepal and leaves her old life behind in search of her true path in life Over the next few years Eva travels solo to some of the world's most far flung places A lone horse trek in Mongolia COVID lockdown on a desert island in Yemen and overlanding across the US in an 18 year old truck She grows an online community and finds love where she wasn't looking But the shift from a rooted life to a transient one is far from straightforward and Eva grapples with the tension between her wanderlust and a longing for somewhere to call home This book is the world expanding memoir of Eva journeying through the world on her own terms and inspiring example of what awaits when you take the wilder path The Wilder Way Eva zu Beck, 2026-06-02 From the internationally beloved YouTube adventurer and National Geographic TV host a singular and fearless new travel memoir packed with inspiration for leading a more vibrant wild and authentic life Are you living with a capital L When was the last time you truly felt you were your wildest most free most alive self Eva zu Beck professional storyteller and avid adventurer believes our best life is available to each of us in every moment But we have to seize it The comfort we crave can also be a silent killer of dreams Whether your dream is to scale a foreign mountain hike a local trail or pick up a paint brush Eva's message is clear The world belongs to the brave But it wasn't always this way Seven years ago Eva was a young well paid corporate executive living the high life in London dressed in designer clothes with a handsome equally successful fianc on her arm But as she walked down the aisle on the day of her wedding the tears she shed were not tears of joy as their guests thought but of a deep unnamed sadness Nearly a year later Eva quit her high paying job left her picture perfect marriage and bought a one way ticket to Nepal What she didn't know then was that she was embarking on a seven year journey that would take her from Mongolia's wilderness to Yemen's remote islands to the Arctic Circle and ultimately to a life of profound meaning and purpose This extraordinary memoir chronicles one woman's transformation from someone living society's idea of a best life to a person discovering the truth of her own Through heart pounding adventures and raw intimate storytelling Eva reveals how stepping off life's conventional highway what she calls the path of mortgage marriage lineage opened her world to experiences she never imagined possible learning to trek solo with horses across Mongolia surviving three months alone on a desert island in Yemen during COVID driving an eighteen year old truck from Mexico to Alaska and attempting a 300 mile ultramarathon in the Arctic Circle But this isn't just a collection of daring feats Each chapter not only details a life altering experience but reveals the hidden lessons Eva learned along the way It's a blueprint for anyone who feels trapped by society's expectations and longs to create a life of genuine adventure connection and meaning Eva's story arrives at a crucial moment when many are questioning traditional definitions of success and seeking alternatives to lives spent largely indoors in front of screens disconnected from nature and authentic human connection Through her experiences learning rare indigenous languages living with remote communities and pushing her body and spirit to their limits Eva demonstrates that extraordinary lives aren't just for the wealthy or specially gifted they're available to anyone brave enough to step off the beaten path and trust their heart

C. Jackson,2012-04-03 In Wilder Ways Donald C Jackson takes readers on a journey into the deep and very personal connections that can develop between people and wild places while hunting fishing and rambling across landscapes Fishing by lantern light late at night for bullhead catfish on a small stream hunting wood ducks and squirrels on his farm in north Mississippi bow hunting deer as twilight creeps across a small clearing handlining crabs in the Pascagoula River estuary hunting caribou in Alaska and elk in Colorado searching for blind fish in Ozark caves and fighting a storm on an Indonesian river Jackson leads us into reflections of our own journeys and helps us to understand that we can be part of a wilder way often very near to our homes We walk with him through the tall grass wet with early morning dew light tackle in hand down to a ditch under a Mississippi highway bridge and then discover that the ditch is really a very fine stream full of fish We recapture the essence of hunting by stalking fox squirrels in a small patch of hardwoods We stand beside him listening to the whistle of wings as ducks pass overhead in the pre dawn light and fog that surround a tiny brushy pond hidden in the woods We smell the salt air and feel the power of a redfish as it strips line from the fishing reel while the sunset turns marsh to gold We walk alone under the starlight along an Alaskan river after an afternoon of grayling fishing We fall in love again with tents tractors and old brown dogs Through the shared journeys in Wilder Ways we link with the rhythms of the earth understanding that the wilds are not something separate from us We are all somewhat wilder than perhaps we ever imagine
