The Two Mujeres:

The Two Mujeres Sara Levi Calderón, 1991 This is the English translation of the extraordinarily popular Mexican novel that remained on Mexico's Top Ten Best Sellers list long after its initial publication. The protagonist of the novel, Valeria, is a member of a well-to-do Jewish family in Mexico City. She is married and has two sons. Intelligent and sensitive, she realizes that the traditional conventions of her culture and subculture have made her unable to be a whole person, acting as a relatively free agent in the world. Then she falls passionately in love with a woman and, against tremendous family pressure, finds the courage to leave her conventional life to become the writer she has wanted to be. All the elements of a true romance written with fine literary sensibility. BOOK JACKET

Dos mujeres Sara Levi Calderón, 1990 An extraordinary story of a love that faces an antagonism with society and expresses itself in a thousand ways. An erotic novel that delves into the relationship of two women who love each other above all things. Valeria, from a well-to-do family, divorced and with two children; Genoa, also divorced and without a family. Dos Mujeres is the story of two beings who struggle to realize their passion. A narrative that naturally and instinctively speaks to us of the woman-woman relationship as a form of expression that occurs without any greater preamble than that of two souls who love, desire, and complement each other. Dos Mujeres is a book that breaks with the established norms that proposes an uncommon love, a relationship of passion without limits in which two women give everything without measure and receive it in the same way. Dos Mujeres

Women Political Prisoners after the Spanish Civil War Ruth Fisher, 2020-11-24 At the end of the Spanish Civil War, the Nationalist government instigated mass repression against anyone suspected of loyalty to the defeated Republican side. Around 200,000 people were imprisoned for political crimes in the weeks and months following 1st April 1939, including thousands of women who were charged with offences ranging from directing the home front to supporting their loved ones engaged in combat. Many women wrote and published texts about their experiences, seeking to make their voices heard and to counteract the dehumanising master narrative of the right-wing victors that had criminalised their existence. The memoirs of Communist women, such as Tomasa Cuevas and Juana Doña, have heavily influenced our understanding of life in prison for women under franquismo, while texts by non-Communist women have largely been ignored. This monograph offers a comparative study of the life writing of female political prisoners in Spain, focusing on six texts in particular: the two volumes of Crónica de mujeres by Tomasa Cuevas; Desde la noche y la niebla by Juana Doña; ¿Quiéramos por la libertad? by Angeles García; Abajo las dictaduras by Josefa García Segret; and Aquello sucedió by Angeles Malonda. All the texts share common themes such as describing the hunger and repression that all political prisoners suffered. However, the ideologically driven narratives of Communist women often foreground representations of resistance at the expense of exploring the emotional and intellectual struggle for survival that many women political prisoners faced in the aftermath of the Spanish Civil War. This study nuances our understanding of imprisoned women as individuals and as a collective, analysing how women political prisoners sought recognition and justice. in the face of a vindictive dictatorship It also explores the women s response to the spirit of convivencia during the transition to democracy which once again threatened to silence them Latin American Women Writers Kathy S.
