Thomas-Hope, 1998 Solid waste has become a major consequence of development and modernization yet some of the greatest challenges to its management are felt most keenly in the developing countries This is part of the larger paradox of development namely that factors that create the most intransigent problems currently facing the developing countries are invariably those which derive from development itself Introduction This volume presents a collection of papers which with perspectives from Africa and the Caribbean raise critical issues in the management of solid waste It is intended to offer a basis for discussion among the wide range of disciplines and sectors involved in solid waste management and suggest directions for future work both in the theoretical and practical dimensions of the challenge with which developing countries are confronted Tyre Recycling Valerie Shulman, 2004 This is an expert overview on the topic of tyre recycling It summarises current practices and the factors that have contributed to their growth and efficacy as viable economically and environmentally sound methods of dealing with post consumer tyres The primary area of study of this report is the EU but reports from the US have also been cited Statistics from the EU markets which illustrate changes in the industry since the inception of the European Tyre Recycling Association a decade ago are incorporated Around 400 references with abstracts from recent global literature accompany this review sourced from the Polymer Library to facilitate further reading A subject index and a company index are included Sustainable Waste Management and Recycling Mukesh C.
