State without Religion? Jeroen Jans, 2022-12-07 In recent decades the Netherlands and Flanders have faced challenges in how to deal with a multicultural society As far as worldviews are concerned the question arises whether the state should guarantee a maximum level of choice concerning religion and humanism to individuals or leave a free space to the religious and humanist communities This study explores in how far committed Catholic Protestant Muslim and humanist youth agree with different models of the relationship between worldviews and the state against the backdrop of their religious and humanist beliefs as well as social determinants It does so by drawing on quantitative and qualitative empirical research The analyses show that overall most religious and humanist youth prefer the state to guarantee a maximum level of choice to individuals but also want the state to respect a substantial free space for communities Above all they want the state to treat worldviews equally before the law Their religious and humanist beliefs are the most significant determinants Jeroen Jans 1990 works at the Diocese of Hasselt and is a visiting researcher at Radboud University He performed his doctoral research at the Faculty of Philosophy Theology and Religious Studies
