The Last Mandarin:

The Last Mandarin Louise Penny, Mellissa Fung, 2026-05-12 When security and fire alarms go off simultaneously all around the world setting off a panic the signal is traced back to China As world leaders scramble to respond Vivien and Alice Li are called to the White House in hopes Madame Li can decode the Chinese intentions Caught up in the chaos Vivien and Alice are uniquely placed to stop the next cataclysmic attack But there are forces deep within both the American and Chinese governments intent on stopping mother and daughter The estranged pair who excel at misunderstanding each other must figure out how to work together The increasingly frantic search for answers takes the women from the Oval Office to an office building in Akron Ohio from the noodle shops of Hong Kong to the necropolis of the first emperor Along the way they must decode an old legend and an old language invented by women for women The Last Mandarin is a compelling international thriller about the precarious balance of power across the world and within a family And what happens when both break down

The Last Mandarin Louise Penny, Mellissa Fung, 2026-05-12 A standalone thriller co written by the 1 New York Times bestselling author of the Gamache series and an award winning journalist In a fast paced all too real thriller co written by 1 New York Times bestselling author Louise Penny and award winning journalist Mellissa Fung global politics become personal for two unlikely heroines Alice Li a first generation Chinese American is an erstwhile food blogger who has lived in the shadow of her mother Vivien Li A Chinese dissident who escaped China after Tiananmen Square Vivien is now a globally recognized human rights activist and passionate advocate for a free and democratic China When security and fire alarms go off simultaneously all around the world setting off a panic the signal is traced back to China As world leaders scramble to respond Vivien and Alice are called to the White House in hopes Madame Li can decode the Chinese intentions While it makes some sense that the President would turn to Vivien since she regularly advises world leaders on the actions of today s Chinese government what isn t clear is why they d want to talk to Alice After looking at the evidence Vivien says that the only thing worse than the Chinese government being behind it is if they are not It would mean she explains that some clandestine element within China is calling the shots That the President of China has lost control And an unstable China cannot be good for anyone Or perhaps that s exactly what the shrewd old politician wants everyone to think Caught up in the chaos Vivien and Alice are uniquely placed to stop the next cataclysmic attack But there are forces deep within both the American and Chinese governments intent on stopping mother and daughter The estranged pair who excels at misunderstanding each other must figure out how to work together The increasingly frantic search for answers takes the women from the Oval Office to an office building in Akron Ohio from the noodle shops of Hong Kong to the necropolis of the first emperor Along the way they must decode an old legend and an old language invented by women for women The Last Mandarin is an electrifying study of absolute power and voracious greed political terror and personal conviction But it is also as to be expected from the minds of Louise Penny beloved author of the Gamache novels and Mellissa Fung an acclaimed international journalist an intimate examination of choice of sacrifice of memory and myths both cultural and personal It is the story of a mother and daughter as well as a compelling international thriller about the precarious balance of power across the world and within a family And what happens when both break down

Phonology in the Bilingual and Bidialectal Lexicon Isabelle Darcy, Annie Tremblay, Miquel Simonet, 2017-07-06

A conversation between two people can only take place if the words intended by each speaker are successfully recognized Spoken word recognition is at the heart of language comprehension This automatic and smooth process remains a challenge for models of spoken word recognition Both the process of mapping the speech signal onto stored representations for words and the format of the representation themselves are subject to debate So far existing research on the nature of spoken word representations has focused mainly on native speakers The picture becomes even more complex when looking at spoken word recognition in a second language Given that most of the world's speakers know and use more than one language it is crucial to reach a more precise understanding of how bilingual and multilingual individuals encode spoken words in the mental lexicon and why spoken word recognition is more difficult in a second language than in the native language Current models of native spoken word recognition operate under two assumptions i that listeners perception of the incoming speech signal is optimal and ii that listeners lexical representations are accurate As a result lexical representations are easily activated and intended words are successfully recognized However these assumptions are compromised when applied to a later learned second language For a variety of reasons e.g phonetic phonological orthographic second language users may not perceive the speech signal optimally and they may still be refining the motor routines needed for articulation Accordingly their lexical representations may differ from those of native speakers which may in turn inhibit their selection of the intended word forms Second language users also have to solve a larger selection challenge having words in more than one language to choose from Thus for second language users the links between perception lexical representations orthography and production are all but clear Even for simultaneous bilinguals important questions remain about the specificity and interdependence of their lexical representations and the factors influencing cross language word activation This Frontiers Research Topic seeks to further our understanding of the factors that determine how multilinguals recognize and encode spoken words in the mental lexicon with a focus on the mapping between the input and lexical representations and on the quality of lexical representations
