The Private Press:

Press Freedom and Communication in Africa Festus Eribo, William Jong-Ebot, 1997 Recent years have seen considerable growth in the media in Africa with increases in the number of newspapers and radio and television stations At the same time there has been an increase in the number of arrests of journalists and broadcasters and various forms of censorship have been introduced The essays in this volume examine press censorship past and present and bring a fresh perspective to the position of the mass media in the African continent

Mass Media and Democratisation in Cameroon in the Early 1990s Francis B. Nyamnjoh, 2011 In the on going democratic debate the Cameroonian media have not played the role of objective mediators A one party logic of which government opposition and the public are guilty has prevented Cameroonian multipartyism from addressing the major issue that of how best to bring about real participatory democracy So far democracy has served mainly as a face powder an empty concept or slogan devoid of concrete meaning used to justify reactionary propoganda by the ruling party and its acolytes on the one hand and revolutionary propoganda by the opposition and some pressure groups on the other This polarisation in the Cameroonian political arena corresponds to a similar polarisation in the Cameroonian media One can identify two main political tendencies in the media first there are those who argue that all the government does is good and in the best interest of Cameroon and that the radical opposition is void of patriots and motivated only by selfish regional or ethnic self interests These comprise the publicly owned government controlled electronic and print media on the one hand and pro government privately owned newspapers on the other Second there are those who claim that all the radical opposition does or stands for is in the best interest of Cameroon and that the government and its allies are only motivated by a stubborn love of power and other selfish pursuits These comprise the bulk of the privately owned papers The media are polarised into two diametrically opposing camps each claiming to know and represent the best interests of the Cameroonian people

The Press and Political Culture in Ghana Jennifer Hasty, 2005-04-28 In The Press and Political Culture in Ghana Jennifer Hasty looks at the practices of journalism and newsmaking at privately owned and state operated daily newspapers in Ghana Hasty decodes the styles and uncovers the strategies that characterize Ghana s major printed news media focusing on the differences between news generated by the state and news that comes from private sources Not only are the angles radically different but so are ways of gathering the news assigning beats using sources and writing articles For all its differences in presentation however Hasty shows that the news in Ghana projects a unified voice that is the result of a contentious and multifarious process that joins Ghanaians in global national and local debates An important engagement with the production of news and news media this book also explores questions about the relationship of popular culture to state politics the expression of civic culture and the role of the media in constituting national and cultural identities

Journalism and the Debate Over Privacy Craig LaMay, 2003-09-12 Journalism and the Debate Over Privacy situates the discussion of issues of privacy in the landscape of professional journalism Privacy problems present the widest gap between what journalism ethics suggest and what the law allows This edited volume examines these problems in the context of both free expression theory and newsroom practice Including essays by some of the country s foremost First Amendment scholars the volume starts off in Part I with an examination of privacy in theoretical terms intended to start the reader thinking broadly about conceptual problems in discussions about journalism and privacy Part II builds on the theoretical underpinnings and looks at privacy problems as they are experienced by working journalists This volume features discussion of privacy as a socially constructed right a moving target that changes with technology social norms national experience and journalistic practice privacy as both a property and a commercial right privacy in terms of journalism ethics and journalistic codes privacy as an attribute of press independence from government and Bartnicki v Vopper and its implications for journalism With this volume editor Craig L LaMay provides a concise intellectually provocative overview of a topic that is of growing importance to journalists both legally and ethically The work is intended for scholars and advanced students in communication law ethics and First Amendment rights and is also appropriate for First Amendment and media law classes in law schools The Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature

Joanne Shattock,1999 Media Reforms and Democratization in Emerging Democracies of Sub-Saharan Africa Ufuoma Akpojivi,2018-04-03 This book examines the media reform processes and re democratization projects of Ghana and Nigeria s emerging democracies It evaluates and critiques these reform processes arguing that because of dependency approaches resulting from the transplanting of policy framework from the West into these emerging democracies the policy goals and objectives of the reforms have not been achieved Consequently the inherent socio cultural economic and political factors coupled with the historical antecedents of these countries have also affected the reform process Drawing from policy documents analyses and interviews Ufuoma Akpojivi argues that the lack of citizens active participation in policy processes has led to neo liberalization and the continued universalization of Western ideologies such as democracy media freedom and independence Akpojivi posits that the recognition of socio cultural political and economic factors inherent to these emerging democracies coupled with the communal participation of citizens will facilitate true media reform processes and development of these countries Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science Allen Kent,Harold Lancour,Jay E.
