Wayfinding People Signs And Architecture:

Wayfinding Paul Arthur, Romedi Passini, 2002-01-01 Wayfinding People Signs and Architecture has been reissued as a special limited edition to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the original publication by McGraw Hill and the death in 2001 of co author Paul Arthur. Authors Paul Arthur and Romedi Passini coined the terms signage and wayfinding, the use of pictograms, words, colours, and architecture to help people find their way quickly and easily in a built environment. The book has become a standard on the subject for graphic designers and architects world wide. This attractive hard cover collectors edition contains several hundred illustrations.

Information Design Robert Jacobson, 2000-08-25 The contributors to this book are both cautionary and hopeful as they offer visions of how information design can be practiced diligently and ethically for the benefit of information consumers as well as producers. Information design is the newest of the design disciplines. As a sign of our times when the crafting of messages and meaning is so central to our lives, information design is not only important, it is essential. Contemporary information designers seek to edify more than to persuade, to exchange more than to foist upon. With ever more powerful technologies of communication we have learned that the issuer of designed information is as likely as the intended recipient to be changed by it for better or worse. The contributors to this book are both cautionary and hopeful as they offer visions of how information design can be practiced diligently and ethically for the benefit of information consumers as well as producers. They present various methods that seem to work such as sense making and way finding. They make recommendations and serve as guides to a still young but extraordinarily pervasive and persuasive field.

Contributors: Elizabeth Andersen, Judy Anderson, Simon Birrell, Mike Cooley, Brenda Dervin, Jim Gasperini, Yvonne M Hansen, Steve Holtzman, Robert E Horn, Robert Jacobson, John Krygier, Sheryl Macy, Romedi Passini, Jef Raskin, Chandler Screven, Nathan Shedroff, Hal Thwaites, Roger Whitehouse.

Visual Information For Everyday Use Harms Zwaga, T. Boersema, H. Hoonhout, 2003-09-02 Creating graphical communication for public use represents both a large industry and a fertile area for thoughtful and innovative research and development. In this collection, some of the world's figures within the interdisciplinary field of public graphics have been brought together to share their wisdom and present a look at this exciting world. This text is divided into a number of sections representing the rich diversity of concerns embraced by visual information designers. The first section is devoted to these foundational issues before moving on to particular domains of interest within public graphics: user instructions, warnings, forms, tables, and graphs, maps and plans, way finding, information, and graphic symbols. This book is designed as a companion for anyone concerned with visual information design, particularly in the context of everyday use. Contributions are included from ergonomists, psychologists, commercial designers, and health and safety professionals. The audience reflects these contributions and is pitched at a level which allows it to provide both practical guidelines and a rigorous academic understanding of the field.

Melewar, 2022-10-21 The Emerald Handbook of Multi Stakeholder Communication gathers an international multidisciplinary team of experts to explore effective brand messaging for multiple stakeholders utilizing a diverse array of theoretical and methodological approaches that cumulatively present an up to date overview of the whole field Visual Pollution Adriana Portella, 2016-02-11 In recent years there has been considerable interest in the problems that public spaces face because of the design of commercial signs The negative consequences that commercial signs can have on the visual quality of urban areas and further more on people s quality of life has been studied from both architectural planning and psychological perspectives While the issue of visual pollution as this phenomenon is commonly described has been widely debated there is as yet no clear conclusion as to how best to control commercial signage and whether different urban contexts and people from different backgrounds and cultures have universal or distinct preferences Several different commenrcial signage approaches are currently applied to different historic cities but these initiatives are not based on principles derived from the perception and evaluation of users Drawing on a range of comparative and contrasting empirical studies of historic city centres in the UK and Brazil this book examines questions of commercial signage control management the preservation of historic heritage and user preference and satisfaction The author takes an environment behaviour approach to this research involving theories concepts and methodologies related to environmental psychology architecture planning and urban design In doing so it argues that there are in fact visual preferences common to the majority of people independent of their urban context and that these common views can be useful to the development of a general theory of how to control commercial signage In conclusion the book suggests that the best way of controlling signage is not only to recommend general guidelines related to the operation of commercial signage but also to recommend design principles that can create commercial streetscapes evaluated positively by different users
