Still Barred From Prison:

Still Barred from Prison Claire Culhane,1985      Disruptive Prisoners Chris Clarkson,Melissa Munn,2021-07-30

Disruptive Prisoners reconstitutes the history of Canada's federal prison system in the mid twentieth century through a process of collective biography one involving prisoners administrators prison reformers and politicians This social history relies on extensive archival research and access to government documents but more importantly uses the penal press materials created by prisoners themselves and an interview with one of the founding penal press editors to provide a unique and unprecedented analysis Disruptive Prisoners is grounded in the lived experiences of men who were incarcerated in federal penitentiaries in Canada and argues that they were not merely passive recipients of intervention Evidence indicates that prisoners were active agents of change who advocated for and resisted the initiatives that were part of Canada's New Deal in Corrections While prisoners are silent in other criminological and historical texts here they are central figures the juxtaposition of their voices with the official administrative parliamentary and government records challenges the dominant tropes of progress and provides a more nuanced and complicated reframing of the post Archambault Commission era The use of an alternative evidential base the commitment of the authors to integrating subaltern perspectives and the first hand accounts by prisoners of their experiences of incarceration makes this book a highly readable and engaging glimpse behind the bars of Canada's federal prisons      Demarginalizing Voices Jennifer M. Kilty,Maritza Felices-Luna,Sheryl C.

Fabian,2014-11-13 Numerous books explore the how to of qualitative research but few discuss what it means to actually engage in it particularly when researchers adopt alternative methods to shed light on the experiences of marginalized populations In Demarginalizing Voices scholars share personal stories about their research with marginalized populations including Aboriginal peoples sex workers the dead and the dying women and men in prison women and men released from prison and the homeless and the hospitalized In the process they answer questions of relevance to anyone engaged in qualitative research What can scholars expect when their research requires them to establish human connections and relationships with their subjects What role do ethics review boards and institutions play when researchers explore new often less accepted methods How do researchers reconcile academic life and its expectations with their activism These powerful accounts from the cutting edge of qualitative research not only create a space in academia that centres marginalized voices they open up the field to new debates and discussion      Women Prisoners and Health Justice Dianne Hatton,Anastasia

Fisher,2018-04-19 Incarceration severely affects the health and wellbeing of women both during their incarceration and following release further complicating the health disparities they already experience as a consequence of gender race and social class The scope of this international problem remains largely hidden from health professionals and policy makers This book brings the issues into the light with contributions from leading advocates criminologists feminists nurses physicians public health professionals social workers sociologists and former prisoners      The Criminal Prisons of London, and Scenes of Prison Life Henry Mayhew, John Binny, 1862

Stories of Transformative Justice Ruth Morris, 2000 Can justice be healing Can crime victims find a new peace through transformative processes that include victims offenders and community in creative solutions that enable all to grow We can turn irritation into iridescence find ways to take the hard blows of life and use the very power of our pain to grow from the experience and create new hope beyond crime or other trauma Forgiveness is an untapped force in our revenge oriented culture These stories show that forgiveness is not condoning or forgetting or failing to set limits Forgiveness is recognizing and acknowledging all that was wrong but refusing to be destroyed by it and refusing to be drawn into a cycle of hatred and bitterness We can change our criminal justice system to include transformative methods We can change our world to one with greater social and economic justice For readers who yearn for realistic hope in these troubled times this is a must read

Abolitionist Intimacies El Jones, 2022-11-02T00:00:00Z In Abolitionist Intimacies El Jones examines the movement to abolish prisons through the Black feminist principles of care and collectivity Understanding the history of prisons in Canada in their relationship to settler colonialism and anti Black racism Jones observes how practices of intimacy become imbued with state violence at carceral sites including prisons policing and borders as well as through purported care institutions such as hospitals and social work The state also polices intimacy through mechanisms such as prison visits strip searches and managing community contact with incarcerated people Despite this Jones argues intimacy is integral to the ongoing struggles of prisoners for justice and liberation through the care work of building relationships and organizing with the people inside Through characteristically fierce and personal prose and poetry and motivated by a decade of prison justice work Jones observes that abolition is not only a political movement to end prisons it is also an intimate one deeply motivated by commitment and love
