The Skeletons Knee:

The Skeleton's Knee Archer Mayor, 1994 The fourth in this crime series featuring Vermont policeman Joe Gunther who here investigating the murder of a hermit discovers the skeleton of a long dead man in his garden From the author of OPEN SEASON

The Skeleton's Knee Archer Mayor, 2014 When a reclusive market gardener's death proves to stem from a 20 year old bullet wound Lt Joe Gunther is presented with a very cold homicide to solve But who was the victim exactly A deeply private man eking out an ascetic existence from a hardscrabble mountain field Abraham Fuller was virtually unknown to his neighbors in the manner of someone pursuing more than mere solitude The discovery of a duffle of unmarked bills and a body buried in the garden patch suggests that Fuller had motives beyond misanthropy Nor is it such a cold case either as someone seems willing to kill to ensure that old secrets remain buried The fourth Joe Gunther mystery The Skeleton's Knee sends Lt Gunther on an investigation spanning thousands of miles and reaching back decades to solve a crime whose deepest roots seem to lie in Chicago's troubled summer of 1968 It's easy to see why the New York Times bestselling Mayor has been described as producing the best police procedural series being written in America

Stories from the Skeleton Robert Jurmain, 2013-09-05 This volume raises central theoretical issues regarding behavioural reconstruction in human osteological research Because behavioural reconstructions have become increasingly common especially within paleopathology it is time to review the scientific basis for such an approach For example osteological scenarios seeking to link the onset of such skeletal conditions as osteoarthritis dental disease and trauma with specific behaviours in past populations are critically examined Questions are also raised as to the scientific rigor of such hypotheses the ethnohistorical or other evidence used to support them and ultimately the soundness of such claims In addition commentary is included that broadens the scope to
