

The book cover features a stylized illustration of a desert landscape with two vintage cars. The cars are depicted in a simplified, almost cubist style, with large, flat surfaces and sharp angles. They are positioned on a dark, flat ground against a background of textured, reddish-brown hills. The overall color palette is dominated by earthy tones, with a blue sky at the top. The title and author information are contained within a white, ornate frame in the upper left quadrant.

Global West, American Frontier David M. Wrobel, 2013-10-15 This thoughtful examination of a century of travel writing about the American West overturns a variety of popular and academic stereotypes Looking at both European and American travelers accounts of the West from de Tocqueville's Democracy in America to William Least Heat Moon's Blue Highways David Wrobel offers a counter narrative to the nation's romantic entanglement with its western past and suggests the importance of some long overlooked authors lively and perceptive witnesses to our history who deserve new attention Prior to the professionalization of academic disciplines the reading public gained much of its knowledge about the world from travel writing Travel writers found a wide and respectful audience for their reports on history geography and the natural world in addition to reporting on aboriginal cultures before the advent of anthropology as a discipline Although in recent decades western historians have paid little attention to travel writing Wrobel demonstrates that this genre in fact offers an important and rich understanding of the American West one that extends and complicates a simple reading of the West that promotes the notions of Manifest Destiny or American exceptionalism Wrobel finds counterpoints to the mythic West of the nineteenth century in such varied accounts as George Catlin's Adventures of the Ojibbeway and Ioway Indians in England France and Belgium 1852 Richard Francis Burton's The City of the Saints 1861 and Mark Twain's Following the Equator 1897 reminders of the messy and contradictory world that people navigated in the past much as they do in the present His book is a testament to the instructive ways in which the best travel writers have represented the West

The WPA Guide to 1930s Kansas Federal Writers' Project, 1984 A reissue of a 1939 guide to Kansas compiled as part of the Federal Writers Project during the Depression years providing information not only about the attractions of the state but serving as a cultural chronicle of an earlier time

The WPA Guide to California Federal Writers' Project, 2013-10-31 During the 1930s in the United States the Works Progress Administration developed the Federal Writers Project to support writers and artists while making a national effort to document the country's shared history and culture. The American Guide series consists of individual guides to each of the states. Little-known authors, many of whom would later become celebrated literary figures, were commissioned to write these important books. John Steinbeck, Saul Bellow, Zora Neale Hurston, and Ralph Ellison are among the more than 6,000 writers, editors, historians, and researchers who documented this celebration of local histories. Photographs, drawings, driving tours, detailed descriptions of towns, and rich cultural details exhibit each state's unique flavor. The guide to California stands out among the rest of the WPA guides for the quality of its writing, photographs, and pen and ink drawings. The Golden State contains much diversity of people, places, and things, and the WPA Guide expertly reflects and records the eclectic quality of this quintessentially American state. Published in 1939, the guide's essays on history cover everything from the gold rush to the movie industry at the nascence of Hollywood's golden age, and its back-road tours through California's coastal fishing villages and mountain mining towns still provide a splendid alternative to freeways.

At its peak, the Federal Music Project (FMP) employed nearly 16,000 people who reached millions of Americans through performances, composing, teaching, and folksong collection and transcription. In Sounds of the New Deal, Peter Gough explores how the FMP's activities in the West shaped a new national appreciation for the diversity of American musical expression. From the onset, administrators and artists debated whether to represent highbrow, popular, or folk music in FMP activities. Though the administration privileged using good music to educate the public in the West, local preferences regularly trumped national priorities and allowed diverse vernacular musics to be heard. African American and Hispanic music found unprecedented popularity, while the cultural mosaic illuminated by American folksong exemplified the spirit of the Popular Front movement These new musical expressions combined the radical sensibilities of an invigorated Left with nationalistic impulses At the same time they blended traditional patriotic themes with an awareness of the country's varied ethnic musical heritage and vast but endangered store of grassroots music Las Vegas Thomas Ainlay, Judy Dixon Gabaldon, 2003 Whether known as The Entertainment Capital of the World or Sin City Glitter Gulch or even Lost Wages Nevada the dazzling city of Las Vegas has undergone incredible transformation from ancient watering hole to Mormon fort from whistle stop to mob run profit center to become the fastest growing urban community in the nation Home to nearly 1.5 million residents a melting pot of races and cultures this great metropolis boasts a thrilling history of vices and virtues but above all a steadfast and uncompromising spirit Lone Tree Gold Mine Expansion Project, Santa Fe Pacific Gold Corp., Humboldt County, 1996 Nevada Historical Society Quarterly Nevada Historical Society, 1998 Nevada Highways and Parks, 1996 Buildings of Nevada Julie Nicoletta, 2000 Landlocked arid and infertile Nevada is one of the least hospitable regions in the United States Although it is dominated by its wild landscape Nevada boasts a colorful human history and a rich architectural heritage This volume the newest in the acclaimed Buildings of the United States series offers a comprehensive tour of Nevada's highly distinctive architecture from old ghost mining towns to the Las Vegas strip pioneer forts to mega casinos the silent majesty of the Hoover Dam to the quiriness of drive-in wedding chapels Organized by region the book is a fascinating survey of more than 200 historic sites including churches courthouses schools homes historic railroads copper mines forts hotels and more Detailed descriptions set all of these diverse forms of building into social political historical and stylistic context Featuring 250 original photographs maps and drawings this extraordinary volume is the most complete guide of its kind Nevada, 1997 The Civilian Conservation Corps in Nevada Renée Corona Kolvet, Victoria Ford, 2006-08-03 The Great Depression of the 1930s had a devastating impact on sparsely populated Nevada and its two major industries mining and agriculture Luckily thanks to Nevada's powerful Senate delegation Roosevelt's New Deal funding flowed abundantly into the state Among the programs thus supported was the Civilian Conservation Corps a federal program intended to provide jobs for unemployed young men and a pool of labor for essential public lands rehabilitation projects In all nearly thirty-one thousand men were employed in fifty-nine CCC camps across Nevada most of them from outside the state These boys as they were called went to work improving the state's forests parks wildlife habitats roads fences irrigation systems flood control systems and rangelands while learning valuable skills on the job Rural communities near CCC camps reaped additional benefits when local men were hired as foremen and when the camps purchased supplies from local merchants The Civilian Conservation Corps in Nevada is the first comprehensive history of the Nevada CCC a program designed to help the nation get back on its feet and of the boys who did so much to restore Nevada's lands and resources The book is based on extensive research in private manuscript collections unpublished memoirs CCC inspectors reports and other records The book also includes period photographs depicting the Nevada CCC and its activities Guide
