Wallace, 2000-06-21 What happens when two women love the same man This is the first book to examine female rivalry as a distinctive theme in women s fiction and to analyze the female identified erotic triangle where two women are rivals for the same man as a narrative pattern which has a special resonance for inter war women writers Focusing on five key writers Diana Wallace offers a reconsideration of inter war women s writing and an examination of the links and rivalries between women writers themselves The Trouble and Strife Reader ebook Deborah Cameron, Joan Scanlon, 2009-11-01 This is a collection of the best and most enduring articles published in Trouble and Strife The Radical Feminist Magazine during its 20 year life including pieces by Stevi Jackson Diana Leonard Julia Swindells Sara Scott and Liz Kelly Daughter of the Swan Gail Linda Mortimer, 1994 Readers of Eudora Welty s stories often encounter a protective and domelike nighttime sky the moon and constellations beckoning a character to venture beyond the familiar visible world This striking metaphor for the human need to seek out the unknown serves as an anchoring image in Daughter of the Swan Gail L Mortimer s study of Welty s lifelong inquiry into the nature and contexts of knowledge Mortimer argues that Welty s views on epistemology and the elusiveness of certainty lie at the heart of this writer s subtle and revelatory work Employing the psychoanalytic object relations theories of Nancy Chodorow and Carol Gilligan she reveals how Welty uses assumptions about relationships to shape her characters consciousnesses Mortimer also contrasts Welty s world with William Faulkner s each elucidates the other s remarkably different ways of perceiving humanity relationships and approaches to the unknown The author then turns to Welty s childhood to consider her evolving sense of what and how things can be known Her childhood with adults created impressions of a benign wondrous orderly world As Mortimer observes Welty eventually replaced these impressions with the realization that adults frequently distort and withhold the truth Welty s own family s conception of love as a kind of shield and her resistance to this protection finds its way into much of her fiction For many Welty characters this protective love becomes an obstacle to fuller understanding Mortimer invokes two of the writer s most beguiling images the circle and the labyrinth to demonstrate that the perceiver who is both an insider and an outsider is best able to recognize and assimilate new knowledge In The Golden Apples Welty contemplates the difficulty and fascination implicit in this quest for knowledge given the ambiguous nature of what we know and given our language s surfaces and of masks myths and falsities to create benevolent illusions Ultimately Mortimer concludes Welty comes to see the concept of protective love as a limited one and in The Optimist's Daughter for instance she advocates instead the courage to face even the harshest realities Recognizing the richness of Welty's artistry Mortimer views her through the lens of various literary traditions including that of Shelley and Yeats The latter's poem Among School Children from which the title of Mortimer's study is borrowed summons the image of the swan to reflect the solitary human soul in search of knowledge In that same spirit of wonder and curiosity Eudora Welty's fiction illuminates the conditions of that search

Crossing Borders Through Folklore Alma Jean Billingslea-Brown, 1999 Examining

works by Toni Morrison Paule Marshall Faith Ringgold and Betye Saar this innovative book frames black women s aesthetic sensibilities across art forms Investigating the relationship between vernacular folk culture and formal expression this study establishes how each of the four artists engaged the identity issues of the 1960s and used folklore as a strategy for crossing borders in the works they created during the following two decades As a dynamic open ended process folklore historically has enabled African descended people to establish differential identity resist dominance and affirm group solidarity This book documents the use of expressive forms of folklore in the fiction of Morrison and Marshall and the use of material forms of folklore in the visual representations of Ringgold and Saar Offering a conceptual paradigm of a folk aesthetic to designate the practices these women use to revise and reverse meanings especially meanings imposed on images such as Aunt Jemima and Sambo Crossing Borders through Folklore explains how these artists locate sites of intervention and reconnection From these sites in keeping with the descriptive and prescriptive formulations for art during the sixties Morrison Marshall Ringgold and Saar articulate new dimensions of consciousness and creatively theorize identity Crossing Borders through Folklore is a significant and creative contribution to scholarship in both established and still emerging fields This volume also demonstrates how recent theorizing across scholarly disciplines has created elastic metaphors that can be used to clarify a number of issues Because of its interdisciplinary approach this study will appeal to students and scholars in many fields including African American literature art history women s studies diaspora studies and cultural studies
