

Broadcast Writing Steps

- Boil down your story to the most essential elements. Broadcast news is constrained by time. The simplest stories tend to run in just 30 seconds.
- Use the differences between print and broadcast to your advantage. For example on TV you can show a parade; on radio you can use the sound (blare of a brass band) to transport viewers and listeners to the scene.
- Use transition from one story to another so the one following seems like a logical next step. Since you pick the order of the stories, it should be done in a way that makes sense to the audience (for example going from one business story to another). Start from the most important news, then going to the least important.
