Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts

- 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos
- 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact

Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy

Excerpt from The Making of a Novelist an Experiment in Autobiography

Every man who writes about himself is on the face of the matter obnoxious to the suspicion which haunts the daily pathway of the Bore To talk of self and not be offen sive demands an art which is not always given to man And yet we are always long ing to get near each other and to under stand each other and in default of a closer communion with our living fellows we take to our bosoms the shadows of fiction and the stage If the real man could be pre sented to us by any writer of his own history About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work

Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

The Making Of A Novelist An Experiment In Autobiography by David Christie Murray

PREFACE Every man who writes about himself is on the face of the matter obnoxious to the suspicion which haunts the daily pathway of the Bore To talk of self and not be offensive demands an art which is not always given to man And yet we are always longing to get near each other and to understand each other and in default of a closer communion with our living fellows we take to our bosoms the shadows of fiction and the stage If the real man could be presented to us by any writer of his own history we should all hail him with enthusiasm We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience

The Making of a Novelist David Christie Murray,2014-01-10 Every man who writes about himself is on the face of the matter obnoxious to the suspicion which haunts the daily pathway of the Bore To talk of self and not be offensive demands an art which is not always given to man And yet we are always longing to get near each other and to understand each other and in default of a closer communion with our living fellows we take to our bosoms the shadows of fiction and the stage If the real man could be presented to us by any writer of his own history we should all hail him with enthusiasm Pepys of course came nearer than anybody else but this is only because he wrote for his own reading and meant to keep himself a secret Dickens exquisitely veils and unveils his own personality and career in Copperfield and scores of smaller writers have done the same thing in fiction to our great pleasure But to set down boldly openly and as a fact for general publication the things of one s own doing saying and thinking is an impertinence whose only justification can be found in the public approval If Pepys had written his Diary for publication he would have been left to oblivion as a driveller But we surprise the man s secret we see what he never meant to show us the peering jackdaw instinct is satisfied and we feel besides a certain sense of humorous pity and affectionate disdain which the man himself had we known him in life as we know him in his book could never have excited Rousseau to me is flatly intolerable because he meant to tell the world what every man should have the decency to hide The perfect autobiography is yet to seek and will probably never be written A partial solution of a difficulty is offered in this experimental booklet It is offered without diffidence because it is offered in perfect modesty I have tried to show how one particular novelist was made where he got some of his experiences and in what varying fashions the World and Fate have tried to teach him his business It has been my effort to do this in the least egotistical and the most straightforward fashion The narrative is quite informal and wanders where it will but in its serial publication it received marked favour from an indulgent public and I like to give it an equal chance of permanence with the rest of my writings which I trust will not convey the notion that I covet a too exaggerated longevity Should the public favour continue the field of experience is wide and I may repeat Dick Swiveller s saying to Mr Quilp There is plenty more in the shop this comes from The Making of a Novelist David Christie Murray,2014-05-18 Every man who writes about himself is on the face of the matter obnoxious to the suspicion which haunts the daily pathway of the Bore To talk of self and not be offensive demands an art which is not always given to man And yet we are always longing to get near each other and to understand each other and in default of a closer

Enjoying the Melody of Appearance: An Emotional Symphony within The Making Of A Novelist

In a global eaten by screens and the ceaseless chatter of instant interaction, the melodic elegance and psychological symphony created by the prepared word often diminish into the backdrop, eclipsed by the relentless sound and interruptions that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, situated within the pages of The Making Of A Novelist an enchanting fictional value brimming with raw feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a masterful musician of language, that interesting masterpiece conducts readers on a psychological journey, well unraveling the hidden songs and profound influence resonating within each carefully constructed phrase. Within the depths of this poignant review, we will investigate the book is central harmonies, analyze their enthralling publishing model, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
