With the Fifth Army Air Force James P. Gallagher, 2001 Revealing a personal side of World War II this collection is an absorbing and highly personal photographic record of America's war in the Pacific 250 duotones 6 maps United States Air Force and Its Antecedents James T. Controvich, Martin Gordon, 2004-06-24 This expanded and revised edition of the bibliography originally compiled for the United States Air Force Historical Research Agency is the most comprehensive listing of unofficial published histories of the United States Air Force and its antecedents It covers the air force from its genesis as the US Army Signal Corps Aviation Section to the present These titles are a rich source of information for anyone interested in the history of combat and peacetime operations of the Air Force Researchers and libraries will find the organization of titles easy to use Entries include private sponsored or unofficial histories often written by the unit historian personal narratives purely photographic or pictorial histories route of battle maps published or printed rosters officially produced titles This is an indispensable resource for military aviation historians libraries with strong collections in military and air force history and unit history collectors It is also of special interest to genealogists as many unit histories contain rosters and photos of personnel Army-Navy-Air Force Register and Defense Times, 1928 United States Army in World War II.: Special studies United States. Dept. of the Army. Office of Military History, 1947 Army, Navy, Air Force Journal & Register, 1943 Chronology, 1941-1945, 1960 This chronology focuses on tactical events from the attack on Pearl Harbor on 7 December 1941 to the signing of the instrument of surrender on the USS Missouri on 2 September 1945 The work includes a comprehensive index Eyes of Artillery Edgar F. Raines, 2000 CMH Pub 70 31 Army Historical Series Examines the institutional origins of modern Army Aviation by recounting the experiences of the men who flew observed fire missions or Air Observations Posts AOP in light aircraft for the Field Artillery during World War 2 Identifies the circumstances and debate that gave rise to the AOP program Fallen Tigers Daniel Jackson, 2021-05-11 Mere months before the attack on Pearl Harbor President Franklin D Roosevelt sent a volunteer group of American airmen to the Far East convinced that supporting Chinese resistance against the continuing Japanese invasion would be crucial to an eventual Allied victory in World War II Within two weeks of that fateful Sunday in December 1941 the American Volunteer Group soon to become known as the legendary Flying Tigers went into action For three and a half years the volunteers and the Army Air Force airmen who followed them fought in dangerous aerial duels over East Asia Audaciously led by master tactician Claire Lee Chennault daring pilots such as David Lee Tex Hill and George B Mac McMillan led their men in desperate combat against enemy air forces and armies despite being outnumbered and outgunned Aviators who fell in combat and survived the crash or bailout faced the terrifying reality of being lost and injured in unfamiliar territory Historian Daniel Jackson himself a combat tested pilot recounts the stories of downed aviators who attempted to evade capture by the Japanese in their bid to return to Allied territory He reveals the heroism of these airmen was equaled and often exceeded by the Chinese soldiers and civilians who risked their lives to return them safely to American bases Based on thorough archival research and filled with compelling personal narratives from memoirs wartime diaries and dozens of interviews with veterans this vital work offers an important new perspective on the Flying Tigers and the history of World War II in China United States Army in World War II United States. Military History, Office of the Chief of,1960 American Airpower Strategy in Korea, 1950-1953 Conrad C. Crane,2000 The Korean War was the first armed engagement for the newly formed U S Air Force but far from the type of conflict it expected or wanted to fight As the first air war of the nuclear age it posed a major challenge to the service to define and successfully carry out its mission by stretching the constraints of limited war while avoiding the excesses of total war Conrad Crane analyzes both the successes and failures of the air force in Korea offering a balanced treatment of how the air war in Korea actually unfolded He examines the Air Force s contention that it could play a decisive role in a non nuclear regional war but shows that the fledgling service was held to unrealistically high expectations based on airpower s performance in World War II despite being constrained by the limited nature of the Korean conflict Crane exposes the tensions and rivalries between services showing that emphasis on strategic bombing came at the expense of air support for ground troops and he tells how interactions between army and air force generals shaped the air force s mission and strategy He also addresses misunderstandings about plans to use nuclear biological and chemical weapons in the war and includes new information from pilot correspondence about the informal policy of hot pursuit over the Yalu that existed at the end of the war The book considers not only the actual air effort in Korea but also its ramifications The air force doubled in size during the war and used that growth to secure its position in the defense establishment but it wagered its future on its ability to deliver nuclear weapons in a high intensity conflict a position that left it unprepared to fight the next limited war in Vietnam As America observes the fiftieth anniversary of its initial engagement in Korea Crane s book is an important reminder of the lessons learned there And as airpower continues to be a cornerstone of American defense this examination of its uses in Korea provides new insights about the air force s capabilities and limitations Investigation of the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy United States. Warren Commission,1964 Warren Commission hearings Journal - Institution of Municipal Engineers Institution of Municipal Engineers (Great Britain),1919 Special Regulations United States. Department of the Army,1952 Army, Navy, Air Force Journal ,1961 The London Gazette ,1919 Federal Register ,1946 The Quartermaster Review ,1926 MacArthur's Airman Thomas E. Griffith,1998 Thomas Griffith offers a critical assessment of George C Kenney s numerous contributions to MacArthur s war efforts He depicts Kenney as a staunch proponent of airpower s ability to shape the outcome of military engagement and a commander who shared MacArthur s strategic vision Harper's Pictorial Library of the World War Albert Bushnell Hart,1920 Aircraft United States.
