The Honing:

Nanofinishing Science and Technology Vijay Kumar Jain, 2016-12-12 Finishing is the final operation after a part is sized and shaped. Currently in high tech industries there is a demand for nano level surface finishing of components. This process is done to improve the surface finish to remove the recast layer or to remove surface and sub surface defects. The result is low friction, longer product life and low power requirements. Equally important is the aesthetic aspect of the product. This subject is growing very fast from the technology as well as a science point of view. Books on this subject are very limited, particularly those ones that deal with both the science as well as the technology aspects. Sustainable Surface Engineering

Approaches for Industrial Applications Shubrajit Bhaumik, Viorel Paleu, V. Jayakumar, Emrullah Hakan Kaleli, 2026-04-24

The text describes the fundamental concepts of usability and user experience and how they are defined, designed for and eventually measured and evaluated. It covers the surface treatment of bioimplant materials by the electrical discharge machining process and the influence of surface texture on the tribological behaviour of artificial joints. It showcases the experimental investigation of the surface hardness of two dissimilar metal welded joints. This book discusses advanced surface treatment methods such as diamond like carbon coating and nanocoatings. Explains important topics in the areas of laser surface engineering, surface parameters of wire arc welding and bio implant surface treatments. Presents industrial applications in the areas of automobiles such as cylinders, bio medical devices and steel surfaces. Explores surface modification of engineering materials using heat treatment and coating. Highlights the effect of heat treatment on the tribological and mechanical properties of polymeric materials. It is primarily written for senior undergraduate, graduate students and academic researchers in fields including mechanical engineering, industrial and production engineering, manufacturing engineering and aerospace engineering. TEXTBOOK OF PRODUCTION ENGINEERING, SECOND EDITION

JAIN, K. C. , CHITALE, A. K. , 2014-02-03 This thoroughly revised book now in its second edition gives a complete coverage of the fundamental concepts and applications of Production Engineering. Divided into six parts, the text covers the various theoretical concepts, design and process of metal cutting, the design and mechanism of various machine tools and various aspects of precision measurement and manufacturing. The concepts and processes of metal working and the design of press tools, various modern methods of manufacturing such as ultrasonic machining, USM, electrochemical deburring, ECD and hot machining are also covered. A variety of worked out examples and end of chapter review questions are provided to strengthen the grasp as well as to test the comprehension of the underlying concepts and principles. The text is extensively illustrated to aid the students in gaining a thorough understanding of various production processes and the principles behind them. The text is intended to serve the needs of the undergraduate students of Mechanical Engineering and Production Engineering. The postgraduate students of Mechanical Engineering and Production Engineering will also find the book highly useful. Key Features Incorporates a new chapter on Grinding and other Abrasive metal removal processes. Includes new
