The Koryak Waldemar Jochelson, 2016-04-26 Since the 18th century researchers and scientists have traveled the peninsula of Kamchatka in the Russian Far East Many of them were of German origin and had been commissioned by the Russian government to perform specific tasks Their exhaustive descriptions and detailed reports are still considered some of the most valuable documents on the ethnography of the indigenous peoples of that part of the world These works inform us about living conditions and particular ways of natural resource use at various times and provide us with valuable background information for current assessment As the first profound anthropological descriptions of that region the publications of the Jesup North Pacific Expedition undertaken in the first years of the 20th century marked the beginning of a new era of research in Russia They represented a shift of the already existing transnational research networks toward North America Jochelson s work The Koryak was an important milestone for Russian and North American anthropology that provides to this day a unique contribution to thoroughly understanding the cultures of the North Pacific rim

Thinking with Animation Joff P. N. Bradley, Catherine Ju-yu Cheng, 2021-08-09 This volume brings together scholars based predominantly in Asia to contribute provocative and experimental essays on the dynamic relationship between animation and philosophy In an inventive and playful philosophical way they address not only the mainstay of Japanese animation but also Korean film picture books and Mickey Mouse to understand what we might call film philosophy in Asia In thinking animation with concepts from the technicolour philosophies of Deleuze Guattari Stiegler Benjamin Kristeva and Heidegger the book sees animation not as a representation of a philosophical idea per se but conceptualizes it as a philosophical thinking device In the images themselves what is at work is not just the thinking of a particular director or manga artist but rather thinking as such through and by the images themselves The scholars in this collection are committed to thinking images themselves as thought experiments and thinking machines
