Understanding Dementia:

Understanding Dementia Alan Jacques, 1992 To MOOC or Not to MOOC Sarah Porter, 2015-05-23 Scarcely a week goes by without coverage in the UK and international media about the latest MOOC revelation Despite some significant initiatives in the dotcom era online learning has somehow never delivered on its promise to revolutionize education To MOOC or not to MOOC explores the history of MOOCs and analyses the current MOOC context by describing six institutions and the story of their engagement with MOOCs Looking at each of the different type of institution in turn it analyses the processes behind their decision to engage with online learning and MOOCs how the MOOC project is managed and led and discusses issues such as quality assurance governance and partnerships Chapters draw together and analyse the data and draw out advice for institutions to help them make choices about how to respond to MOOCs and other high impact changes in digital education The book contains checklists and planning tools to support strategy and planning and concludes with a future look at MOOCs exploring some of the possible trends that may impact upon higher education such as business models data and analytics learning design and competitors in the MOOC marketplace Aimed at higher educational professionals who are interested in the strategic importance and potential of online learning Written from an understanding of the strategic context for senior managers in universities Focus upon a major trend in technology and education illustrated by concrete examples of real practice in institutions Implement case studies to draw out conclusions not only about online learning but also decision making and innovation

New Directions in Understanding Dementia and Alzheimer's Disease Taher Zandi, Richard J. Ham, 2012-12-06 The management of Alzheimer s Disease and the related dementias is one of the major challenges to health care professionals and American society at large for the coming decade and the coming millennium The rapid growth of the over eighty five population the group which as recent studies have confirmed and as many of us clinicians have long suspected has an even higher prevalence than previously quoted of dementing disorders is the major cause of this We are thus challenged by as Bernard Issacs used to call it the survival of the unfittest as well as the optimistic approach of bringing life to years as John F Kennedy said The fact is that we as a society tend to confuse treatment and cure and prevention As the proceedings of the conference which this book represents emphasize there is considerable work going on about the potential prevention of or at least the reduction of symptomatology in these illnesses by interventions genetically chemically and so forth However the more we find out the more complicated it becomes and the more heterogeneous Alzheimer s and the related disorders appear to be not only in their manifestations as clinicians have long recognized but also in the individual initiating and underlying processes For these reasons absolute preventive techniques or the likelihood of an intervention which will reverse the process in a high proportion of patients do not appear to be just around the corner

Macro-Level Learning through Massive Open Online Courses (MOOCs): Strategies and Predictions for the Future McKay, Elspeth, Lenarcic, John, 2015-03-31 To some in academia Massive Open Online Courses are a paradigm shift in online education while others perceive them as a threat to traditional styles of pedagogy In this regard the time honored model of the university lecture is seen as being a potential casualty of the rise of MOOCs Macro Level Learning through Massive Open Online Courses MOOCs Strategies and Predictions for the Future provides insight into the emerging phenomenon of MOOCs as a design manual for the course designer with a collection of chapters that deal with all facets of the MOOC debate Industry training developers corporate trainers educators post graduate students and others will benefit from the information provided in this book Materialities of Age and Ageing: Concepts of a Material Gerontology Grit Höppner,Monika Urban,2019-06-18 In gerontological research the understanding of age and ageing changed in the last decade Biologic determined explanations no longer prevail in this research field Instead ideas of social constructivism are frequently used These ideas define the state of age and the process of ageing as social constructions steeping ageing in social and cultural assumptions ascriptions and expectations From a social constructivist perspective age and ageing are not just identified as dependency deficit and need for care as it was foremost accelerated from a biological perspective but with the life course and thus with individual lifestyles experiences attitudes and practices as well as institutional and economic structures A prominent social constructivist concept is doing age Similar to doing gender the concept of doing age assumes age as taking place in the form of a social praxis within everyday life interactions between people and thus in performances embedded in discourses through which social hierarchies and ideals proceed Despite the paradigm shift that social constructivist concepts enable in gerontological thinking they reveal their blind spot when it comes to the materiality of ageing and thus to fleshy sensual experiences human and non human ontologies and agencies Addressing these materialities of ageing brings up its own critique on definitions of ageing bodies and material environments This framing does not presume that age and ageing are solely products of human to human interactions or those of formative environments or of discourses Rather humans non humans and discourses become essential parts of ageing processes Such a material framing enables us new insights into forms of age and ageing and thus offers an opportunity for scholars to engage critically with materialities of age and ageing This eBook explores theoretical methodological and empirical concepts of such a Material Gerontology ECEL2013- Proceedings for the 12th European Conference on eLearning Dr Mélanie Ciussi,Dr Marc Augier,2013-01-09 Adult Nursing Practice Ian Bullock,Jill Macleod Clark,Joanne Rycroft-Malone,2012-05-24 Adult Nursing Practice Using evidence in care enables today s students and newly qualified nurses develop the knowledge and skills they need to deliver and lead care tomorrow Reflecting the principles of evidence based care in line with the current NMC competencies this textbook helps students learn to manage patients with common conditions and fundamental health needs so they can provide the best possible evidence based care Written and edited by leading nurses from practice education and research it focuses on common diseases fundamental health needs and symptoms that nurses encounter in daily practice Conditions are clearly explained so that the causes of ill health are easily understood Every chapter covers
