The Human Environment:

The Human Environment Draper L. Kauffman, 1978 Human-Environment Interactions Mark R. Welford, Robert A. Yarbrough, 2020-10-06 This textbook explores the growing area of human environment interaction We live in the Anthropocene an era dominated by humans but also by the positive yet destructive environmental feedbacks that are poised to completely reset the relationships between nature and society Modern and historic political social and cultural processes and physical landscape responses determine the intensity of these impacts Yet different cultural groups political and economic entities view react to and impact these human environmental processes in spatially distinct and divergent ways Providing an accessible up to date approach to human environment interactions with balanced coverage of both social and natural science approaches to core environmental issues this textbook is an integrative multi disciplinary offering that discusses environmental issues and processes within the context of human societies The book begins by addressing the three most pressing issues of our time climate change threshold exceedance and the 6th mass extinction From there the authors identify within chapters on resources population agriculture and urbanization what precipitated and continues to sustain these three issues They end with a chapter outlining some practical solutions to our human environment crises The book will be a valuable resource for interdisciplinary environment related courses bridging the gap between the social and natural sciences human geographies and physical geographies The Human Environment Marston Bates, 1962 Environmental Social Science Emilio F. Moran, 2010-02-08 Environmental Social Science offers a new synthesis of environmental studies defining the nature of human environment interactions and providing the foundation for a new cross disciplinary enterprise that will make critical theories and research methods accessible across the natural and social sciences Makes key theories and methods of the social sciences available to biologists and other environmental scientists Explains biological theories and concepts for the social sciences community working on the environment Helps bridge one of the difficult divides in collaborative work in human environment research Includes much needed descriptions of how to carry out research that is multinational multiscale multitemporal and multidisciplinary within a complex systems theory context The Human Environment Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, 1972 Human Environment, 2020 The Human Environment Charles Uwadiae Oyegun, 1997 The Archaeology of Human-Environment Interactions Daniel Contreras, 2016-08-25 The impacts of climate change on human societies and the roles those societies themselves play in altering their environments appear in headlines more and more as concern over modern global climate change intensifies Increasingly archaeologists and paleoenvironmental scientists are looking to evidence from the human past to shed light on the processes which link environmental and cultural change Establishing clear contemporaneity and correlation and then moving beyond correlation to causation remains as much a theoretical task as a methodological one This book addresses this challenge by exploring new approaches to human environment dynamics and confronting the key task of constructing arguments that can link the two in concrete and detailed ways The contributors include researchers working in a wide variety of regions and time periods including Mesoamerica Mongolia East Africa the Amazon Basin and the Island Pacific among others Using methodological vignettes from their own research the contributors explore diverse approaches to human environment dynamics illustrating the manifold nature of the subject and suggesting a wide variety of strategies for approaching it This book will be of interest to researchers and scholars in Archaeology Paleoenvironmental Science Ecology and Geology Human-Environment Relations Emily Brady,Pauline Phemister,2012-02-02 This fresh and innovative approach to human environmental relations will revolutionise our understanding of the boundaries between ourselves and the environment we inhabit The anthology is predicated on the notion that values shift back and forth between humans and the world around them in an ethical communicative zone called value space The contributors examine the transformative interplay between external environments and human values and identify concrete ways in which these norms residing in and derived from self and society are projected onto the environment The Human Environment Calvin Clarke,1993
