Understanding Reference Transactions:

New Concepts in Digital Reference R. David Lankes, 2022-05-31 Let us start with a simple scenario a man asks a woman how high is Mount Everest The woman replies 29 029 feet Nothing could be simpler Now let us suppose that rather than standing in a room or sitting on a bus the man is at his desk and the woman is 300 miles away with the conversation taking place using e mail Still simple Certainly it happens every day So why all the bother about digital virtual electronic chat etc reference If the man is a pilot flying over Mount Everest the answer matters If you are a lawyer going to court the identity of the woman is very important Also if you ever want to find the answer again how that transaction took place matters a lot Digital reference is a deceptively simple concept on its face the incorporation of human expertise into the information system This lecture seeks to explore the question of how human expertise is incorporated into a variety of information systems from libraries to digital libraries to information retrieval engines to knowledge bases What we learn through this endeavor begun primarily in the library context is that the models methods standards and experiments in digital reference have wide applicability We also catch a glimpse of an unfolding future in which ubiquitous computing makes the identification interaction and capture of expertise increasingly important It is a future that is much more complex than we had anticipated It is a future in which documents and artifacts are less important than the contexts of their creation and use
