The Comfort Women C. Sarah Soh, 2008 In an era marked by atrocities perpetrated on a grand scale the tragedy of the so called comfort women mostly Korean women forced into prostitution by the Japanese army endures as one of the darkest events of World War II These women have usually been labeled victims of a war crime a simplistic view that makes it easy to pin blame on the policies of imperial Japan and therefore easier to consign the episode to a war torn past In this revelatory study C Sarah Soh provocatively disputes this master narrative Soh reveals that the forces of Japanese colonialism and Korean patriarchy together shaped the fate of Korean comfort women a double bind made strikingly apparent in the cases of women cast into sexual slavery after fleeing abuse at home Other victims were press ganged into prostitution sometimes with the help of Korean procurers Drawing on historical research and interviews with survivors Soh tells the stories of these women from girlhood through their subjugation and beyond to their efforts to overcome the traumas of their past Finally Soh examines the array of factors from South Korean nationalist politics to the aims of the international women s human rights movement that have contributed to the incomplete view of the tragedy that still dominates today The Comfort Women: Japan's Brutal Regime of Enforced Prostitution in the Second World War George Hicks, 1997-10-17 The most extensive record available in English of the ugly story Elisabeth Rubinfeln New York Newsday Over 100 000 women across Asia were victims of enforced prostitution by the Japanese Imperial Forces during World War II Until as recently as 1993 the Japanese government continued to deny this shameful aspect of its wartime history George Hicks s book is the only history in English regarding this terrible enslavement of women Voices of the Korean Comfort Women Chungmoo Choi, Hyunah Yang, 2023-01-17 An innumerable number of young women were taken from Korea during the Pacific War to provide sexual services to Japanese soldiers These women including teenagers euphemistically referred to in Japanese documents as Comfort Women were shipped to the vastly expanded battlefronts throughout the Japan occupied territories covering Northern China to Myanmar and to the South Pacific Islands Many of these girls died were killed or abandoned during and after the war but a small percentage of them returned only to face yet another devastating war at home and lasting social stigma In Voices of the Korean Comfort Women nine survivors tell their traumatic life stories as to how they were taken how they had been treated with atrocities at the Comfort Stations and how they had survived through not only the Pacific War but also the Korean War and beyond These often harrowing personal testimonies are each expanded by the interviewer s observational notes thereby providing poignant contextual information This English translation of vital oral history underpinned with theoretically informed guides will be invaluable to students and scholars of Asian history the Pacific War and wartime sexual violence against women as well as those interested in historical trauma and human rights Chinese Comfort Women Peipei Qiu, Zhiliang Su, Lifei Chen, 2014 Chinese Comfort Women Testimonies from Imperial Japan s Sex Slaves features the personal narratives of twelve women forced into sexual slavery when the Japanese military occupied their

Comfort Woman Maria Rosa Henson,2016-09-22 From Comfort Woman We began the day with breakfast after which we swept and cleaned our rooms Then we went to the bathroom downstairs to wash the only dress we had and to bathe The bathroom did not even have a door so the soldiers watched us We were all naked and they laughed at us especially me and the other young girl who did not have any pubic hair At two the soldiers came My work began and I lay down as one by one the soldiers raped me Every day anywhere from twelve to over twenty soldiers assaulted me There were times when there were as many as thirty they came to the garrison in truckloads I lay on the bed with my knees up and my feet on the mat as if I were giving birth Whenever the soldiers did not feel satisfied they vented their anger on me Every day there were incidents of violence and humiliation When the soldiers raped me I felt like a pig Sometimes they tied up my right leg with a waist band or a belt and hung it on a nail in the wall as they violated me I shook all over I felt my blood turn white I heard that there was a group called the Task Force on Filipino Comfort Women looking for women like me I could not forget the words that blared out of the radio that day Don t be ashamed being a sex slave is not your fault It is the responsibility of the Japanese Imperial Army Stand up and fight for your rights In April 1943 fifteen year old Maria Rosa Henson was taken by Japanese soldiers occupying the Philippines and forced into prostitution as a comfort woman In this simply told yet powerfully moving autobiography Rosa recalls her childhood as the illegitimate daughter of a wealthy landowner her work for Huk guerrillas her wartime ordeal and her marriage to a rebel leader who left her to raise their children alone Her triumph against all odds is embodied by her decision to go public with the secret she had held close for fifty years Now in a second edition with a new introduction and foreword that bring the ongoing controversy over the comfort women to the present this powerful memoir will be essential reading for all those concerned with violence against women

The Comfort Women George L. The Japanese Comfort Women and Sexual Slavery During the China and Pacific Wars Caroline Norma, 2015-12-17 The Japanese military was responsible for the sexual enslavement of thousands of women and girls in Asia and the Pacific during the China and Pacific wars under the guise of providing comfort for battle weary troops Campaigns for justice and reparations for comfort women since the early 1990s have highlighted the magnitude of the human rights crimes committed against Korean Chinese and other Asian women by Japanese soldiers after they invaded the Chinese mainland in 1937 These campaigns however say little about the origins of the system or its initial victims The Japanese Comfort Women and Sexual Slavery during the China and Pacific Wars explores the origins of the Japanese military's system of sexual slavery and illustrates how Japanese women were its initial victims

Yuha,2024-07-29 This is an important and controversial work hitherto available only in Korean Japanese and Chinese a book which has been subject to court cases attempting to have some parts deleted The author reconsiders the issue of the comfort women that is the Korean women who were compelled to provide sexual comfort to Japanese troops during the Asia Pacific War She explores the human complexity of the experiences of these women who despite terrible exploitation she feels cannot and should not only be considered as passive victims She sets the issue in context revealing how Korean society played a role with patriarchy and middlemen being significant factors in the procurement of comfort women and how alongside the comfort women there were volunteer labor corps of Korean young women supporting the Japanese war effort The author highlights Korea s colonial status different from the territories Japan invaded and conquered discusses how relations between colonizers and colonized in an empire are not straightforward and argues that people should work to understand more fully the mindset of those at the time and refrain from forcing values from the present to resolve indignities of the past Aiming to find a way to pursue reconciliation while looking more closely at the history the book provides substantial consideration of key issues to do with empire memorialization and censorship It is an uncomfortable read for those seeking simplistic interpretations and easy solutions
