

WHAT IS RING TOPOLOGY?

A ring topology is a network design in which devices are linked together in a ring structure and communicate with one another based on the nodes that are next to them on the ring. A ring topology is more effective than a bus architecture and can support greater loads. Most Ring Topologies are referred to as one-way unidirectional ring networks since packets may only go in one direction.

The two main varieties of ring topology are bidirectional and unidirectional, respectively. Different types of ring topology installations function differently depending on the devices that are being connected to build a network.
