Hands-On Art Activities for the Elementary Classroom Jude Cataldo, 2006-09-22. Whether you have the luxury of teaching in your own art room or must carry your materials from classroom to classroom, Hands On Art Activities for the Elementary Classroom is the resource for you. It offers a great collection of 80 fun and simple projects which teach basic art concepts and don't need a lot of special materials that are appropriate for any elementary school art class. The book is divided into four major sections: Fall, Winter, Spring, Summer, and Design Activities, and includes a year's supply of seasonal projects, holiday activities, and activities that teach specific art techniques. All the projects contain a designation for the appropriate grade level, directions for both teachers and students, a detailed description and illustration of the activity, a list of the materials required, an explanation of how to prepare to teach the activity, and information about how the project connects to other disciplines.

The Totem Pole Aldona Jonaitis, Aaron Glass, 2010. Writing a poem is like trying to describe a totemic column which passes right through and beyond the world. We see it, but its existence is elsewhere. Stanley Diamond's Totems on the Northwest Coast totem pole captivates the imagination. From the first descriptions of these tall carved monuments, totem poles have become central icons of the Northwest Coast region and symbols of its Native inhabitants. Although many of those who gaze at these carvings assume that they are ancient artifacts, the so-called totem pole is a relatively recent artistic development, one that has become immensely important to Northwest Coast people and has simultaneously gained a common place in popular culture, from fashion to the funny pages. The Totem Pole reconstructs the intercultural history of the art form in its myriad manifestations from the eighteenth century to the present. Aldona Jonaitis and Aaron Glass analyze the totem pole's continual transformation since Europeans first arrived on the scene, investigate its various functions in different contexts, and address the significant influence of colonialism on the proliferation and distribution of carved poles. The authors also describe their theories on the development of the art form, its spread from the Northwest Coast to world's fairs and global theme parks, its integration with the history of tourism, and its transformation into a signifier of place. The role of governments, museums, and anthropologists in collecting and restoring poles, and the part that these carvings have continuously played in Native struggles for control of their cultures and their lands. Short essays by scholars and artists, including Robert Davidson, Bill Holm, Richard Hunt, Nathan Jackson, Vickie Jensen, Andrea Laforet, Susan Point, Charlotte Townsend Gault, Lyle Wilson, and Robin Wright, provide specific case studies of many of the topics discussed, directly illustrating the various relationships that people have with the totem pole. Aldona Jonaitis is director emerita of the University of Alaska Museum of the North and professor at the University of Alaska Fairbanks. An art historian who has published widely on Native American art, she is the author of Art of the Northwest Coast and Looking North: Art from the University of Alaska Museum among other titles Aaron Glass is an assistant professor at the Bard Graduate Center in New York City where he teaches anthropology of art museums and material culture He has published on visual art media and performance among First Nations on the Northwest Coast and has produced the documentary film In Search of the Hamat sa A Tale of Headhunting Art of the Totem Marius Barbeau, 2006 Explores the history development and significance of the totem pole art of the Northwest Coast Totem Poles to Cut Out & Put Together Steven Clay Brown, Bellerophon Books (Firm), 1994-12
