Underemployed Phds:

Reshaping the Graduate Education of Scientists and Engineers National Academy of Engineering, National Academy of Sciences, Policy and Global Affairs, Institute of Medicine, Committee on Science, Engineering, and Public Policy, 1995-06-25 Are we producing too many PhDs Does the current graduate education system adequately prepare science and engineering students for today's marketplace How do foreign students enter the picture What should be the PhD of the future These and other questions are addressed in this book by a blue ribbon panel of scientists and engineers Recommendations are aimed at creating a new PhD that would retain the existing strengths of the current system while substantially increasing the information available the potential versatility of students and the career options afforded to them by their PhD education

Underemployed Ph.D.'s Lewis C. Solmon, 1981 Survey of underemployment among university graduates with Ph D degrees in the USA and scientists and engineers employment opportunities in the public sector and in nonacademic occupations in the late 1970s examines proposals on employment policy to remedy the crisis through labour mobility examines job satisfaction of professional workers incl The woman worker trends in occupational change wages etc forecasts labour shortages of scientists and engineers Bibliography questionnaires references and statistical tables Young Faculty in the Twenty-First Century Maria Yudkevich, Philip G. Altbach, Laura E. Rumbley, 2015-03-17 Demonstrates how the success of universities depends on the working conditions of the younger academic generation Young faculty are the future of academia yet without attractive career paths for young academics the future of the university is bleak Featuring case studies from Brazil China France Germany India Norway Portugal Russia South Africa and the United States Young Faculty in the Twenty First Century is the first book to analyze issues facing early career higher education faculty in an international context The contributors discuss how young academics are affected by contracts salaries the structure of careers and institutional conditions The analyses cover the full spectrum of the academic profession including part time jobs and short term contracts both in public and private institutions The book also addresses what universities must do in order to attract young qualified candidates

Composition in the Age of Austerity Nancy Welch, Tony Scott, 2016-04-01 In the face of the gradual saturation of US public education by the logics of neoliberalism educators often find themselves at a loss to respond let alone resist Through state defunding and many other reforms fueled by austerity politics a majority of educators are becoming casual labor in US universities while those who hang onto secure employment are pressed to act as self supporting entrepreneurs or do more with less Focusing on the discipline of writing studies this collection addresses the sense of crisis that many educators experience in this age of austerity The chapters in this book chronicle how neoliberal political economy shapes writing assessments curricula teacher agency program administration and funding distribution Contributors also focus on how neoliberal political economy dictates the direction of scholarship because the economic and political agenda shaping the terms of work the methods of delivery and the ways of valuing and assessing writing also shape the primary concerns and directions of scholarship Composition in the Age of Austerity offers critical accounts of how the restructuring of higher education is shaping the daily realities of composition programs The book documents the effects and implications of the current restructuring examines how cherished rhetorical ideals actually leave the field unprepared to respond effectively to defunding and corporatizing trends and establishes points of departure for collective response Rhetoric Review

Cracks in the Ivory Tower Jason Brennan,Phillip W. Magness,2019 Brennan and Magness expose many of the ethical failings of academia and in turn reshape our understanding of how such high power institutions run their business From publisher description Employment of New PhD's and Postdoctorals in 1971 National Research Council (U.S.). Office of Scientific Personnel,1971 This report summarizes the results of a survey of doctoral departments in U S universities in the winter of 1970 71 The study was conducted to determine the current employment status of recent recipients of the doctorate and postdoctoral degrees in the fields of science and engineering In addition to tabulated data from the survey the report contains background data from the Doctorate Records File that indicates long term trends in the specified fields The evidence of the survey shows that it was more difficult for the doctorate recipients and postdoctorals of 1970 to obtain satisfactory jobs than for those of 1969 Both underemployment and unemployment essentially doubled from 1969 to 1970 Translated into numbers of individuals on a national basis it is estimated that about 225 Ph D s of 1970 in the survey fields held jobs that did not utilize their graduate training and about 285 were unemployed HS Profession ,2001
