Supremely great Graydon Carter Teacher, 1978 Literature and Film, Dispositioned Alice Gavin, 2014-09-23 Literature and Film Dispositioned looks to twentieth century literature's encounter with film as a means to thinking about the locations of thought in literature and literature's location in the world It includes readings of works by James Joyce Henry James and Samuel Beckett whose Film 1965 forms a concluding focus Writing God and the Self Sharon Jebb, 2011-05-01

Contemporary literature has for several decades and in various guises been dominated by questions of identity and the self It has been forgotten that until the Enlightenment theological reflection emphasized the close connectedness of the self with God knowledge of God is essential to knowledge of the self and vice versa correct knowledge of the self is a necessary correlate to true knowledge of God This has been called the double knowledge Writing God and the Self examines two literary texts and lives as representative of two antithetical positions The first represented by Samuel Beckett's life and his Three Novels is that the self is independent of God the second represented by C S Lewis and Till We Have Faces is that God and the self are intimately connected Beckett's radical apophaticism about God is shown to be tied to his extreme apophaticism about the self whereas Lewis's sense of selfhood is demonstrated to be integrally connected to his sense of a personal and self transcending God Other voices Augustine Teresa of Avila Charles Taylor Rowan Williams Mark McIntosh and Vladimir Lossky join the chorus of theologians psychologists and other thinkers past and present that contribute to this exploration of what Christian theology has to say about the insistent problem of the self Taken together all these voices articulate a powerful vision of selfhood in relation to God that is desperately needed today Simon & Schuster Mega
