Longmire, 1989 Gorbachev's major speech at Vladivostok on 28 July 1986 signalled an increased awareness by the Soviet Union of the importance of the Asia Pacific region Subsequently there have been significant changes in Soviet foreign policy paralleling the programme of wide ranging internal reform and imparting a new look to the USSR's international image The aim of the present work is to chart the development of Soviet policy towards the region since the start of the Bolshevik regime with whether there was any pattern or consistency in that policy Concentration on Soviet activity in a particular part of the world might also serve to throw further light on the much discussed question whether Moscow's policies have in the past been conceived in ideological terms and therefore in some measure pre determined or whether they were truly ad hoc ideology being used merely as justification Bharatiya Janata Party and India's Foreign Policy Madhusudan Mishra, 1997 Detailed analysis of India's foreign policy from 1980's onwards and reaction and suggestion of the Bharatiya Janata Party Germany, the Soviet Union, and Eastern Europe, 1949-1991 Rajendra Kumar Jain, 1993 Bulletin, 1995 Bulletin of the Public Affairs Information Service Public Affairs Information Service, 1930 Hammer and Rifle David R. only for the underdeveloped periphery so long enmeshed in ideological socio political and military conflicts sponsored by Washington Moscow or Beijing but also for the broader patterns of international relations This book will be of much interest to students of the Cold War war and conflict studies third world and development studies international history and IR in general
