

Two 'Tarnham' Spy Thrillers A Matter of Diplomacy

A fascinating unweaving of diplomatic intrigue in the post-9/11 world is given a twist in Adam. The political and thriller elements are beautifully fused into a highly personal story of the consequences of a mission on those left behind—particularly of the defector Tarnham's intimate with Eliza.

'The best piece of sustained dramatic writing I have read since the climax of Nigel Barker's The Small Back Room.' Midday Express

The Powder Train

A tautly written, fast-moving novel featuring some of the principal characters in A Matter of Diplomacy. Secret agent George Mado, cocaine addict and drinker extraordinaire, is given his last chance—to spare the face of nuclear power as that it burns right into the heart of Rome.

'One of today's best writers on diplomatic intrigue.' Birmingham Evening Mail

ANDREW WARREN

This Time Next October

George Foster, a brilliant construction engineer, arrives back in England after two years abroad to find the country torn by Neutralist riots. Immediately before going, he had been employed on constructing a supposed bomb-proof headquarters underneath Berkeley Square. Now, on the first day he is back—and the action of this tense, fast-moving story takes place in a single day—he discovers that 'his' project has been expanded in his absence into a vast underground city capable of accommodating a survival population of... whom? He does not know the real purpose to which his project will be put, but he is deeply suspicious. The events in This Time Next October are perfectly plausible in the context of our times and leave the reader pondering that perhaps—perhaps—it could happen here....
