Using The Context A:

Context: A Framework for Its Influence on Evaluation Practice Debra J. Rog, Jody L. Fitzpatrick, Ross F. Conner, 2012-09-06 Context is a force in evaluation. It shapes our practice, influencing how we approach and design our studies, how we carry them out, and how we report our findings. Context also moderates and mediates the outcomes of the programs and policies we evaluate. This issue focuses squarely on the role that context plays in practice and illuminates its effect on the implementation and outcomes of programs. Exploring the ways in which attending to context may improve the quality of evaluation practice, the contributions span theory, methods, and practice in an effort to move to a more comprehensive conceptualization of context that can guide our work. It provides an historical and theoretical view of evaluators' treatment of context, illustrates how context has influenced evaluation practice, presents a five-area framework for guiding a contextual analysis of evaluations, introduces context assessment which provides a means of integrating context and its implications within the important stages of evaluation. This is the 135th volume of the Jossey-Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation, an official publication of the American Evaluation Association. Context in Communication: A Cognitive View Gabriella Airenti, Marco Cruciani, Alessio Plebe, 2017-04-03 Context is what contributes to interpret a communicative act beyond the spoken words. It provides information essential to clarify the intentions of a speaker and thus to identify the actual meaning of an utterance. A large amount of research in Pragmatics has shown how wide-ranging and multifaceted this concept can be. Context spans from the preceding words in a conversation to the general knowledge that the interlocutors supposedly share from the perceived environment to features and traits that the participants in a dialogue attribute to each other. This last category is also very broad since it includes mental and emotional states together with culturally constructed knowledge such as the reciprocal identification of social roles and positions. The assumption of a cognitive point of view brings to the foreground a number of new questions regarding how information about the context is organized in the mind and how this kind of knowledge is used in specific communicative situations. A related, very important question concerns the role played in this process by theory of mind abilities (ToM) both in typical and atypical populations. In this Research Topic we bring together articles that address different aspects of context analysis from theoretical and empirical perspectives, integrating knowledge and methods derived from Philosophy of language, Linguistics, Cognitive Science, Cognitive Neuroscience, Developmental and Clinical Psychology. Fast and Efficient Context-Aware Services Danny Raz, Arto Tapani Juhola, Joan Serrat-Fernandez, Alex Galis, 2006-05-01 Fast and Efficient Context-Aware Services gives a thorough explanation of the state of the art in Context-Aware Services (CAS). The authors describe all major terms and components of CAS, defining context and discussing the requirements of context-aware applications and their use in 3rd generation services. The text covers the service creation problem as well as the network technology alternatives to support these services and discusses active and programmable networks in detail. It gives an insight into the practical approach followed in the CONTEXT project supplying concrete guidelines for building successful context aware services Fast and Efficient Context Aware Services Provides comprehensive and in depth information on state of the art CAS technology Proposes a system architecture for CAS creation and delivery discussing service management and active network layers Describes the service lifecycle functional architecture covering service authoring customization invocation and assurance Explains system design considerations and details system evaluation criteria test bed requirements and evaluation results Fast and Efficient Context Aware Services is an invaluable resource for telecommunications developers researchers in academia and industry advanced students in Computer Science and Electrical Engineering telecoms operators as well as telecommunication management and operator personnel
