Assessment that Informs Practice, 2000 How Humans Learn to Think Mathematically David Tall, 2013-09-02 How Humans Learn to Think Mathematically describes the development of mathematical thinking from the young child to the sophisticated adult Professor David Tall reveals the reasons why mathematical concepts that make sense in one context may become problematic in another For example a child's experience of whole number arithmetic successively affects subsequent understanding of fractions negative numbers algebra and the introduction of definitions and proof Tall's explanations for these developments are accessible to a general audience while encouraging specialists to relate their areas of expertise to the full range of mathematical thinking The book offers a comprehensive framework for understanding mathematical growth from practical beginnings through theoretical developments to the continuing evolution of mathematical thinking at the highest level

Supporting Mathematical Thinking with Anne Watson, 2001 How Not to Be Wrong Jordan Ellenberg, 2014-05-29 Witty compelling and just plain fun to read Evelyn Lamb Scientific American The Freakonomics of math a math world superstar unveils the hidden beauty and logic of the world and puts its power in our hands The math we learn in school can seem like a dull set of rules laid down by the ancients and not to be questioned In How Not to Be Wrong Jordan Ellenberg shows us how terribly limiting this view is Math isn't confined to abstract incidents that never occur in real life but rather touches everything we do the whole world is shot through with it Math allows us to see the hidden structures underneath the messy and chaotic surface of our world It's a science of not being wrong hammered out by centuries of hard work and argument Armed with the tools of mathematics we can see through to the true meaning of information we take for granted How early should you get to the airport What does public opinion really represent Why do tall parents have shorter children Who really won Florida in 2000 And how likely are you really to develop cancer How Not to Be Wrong presents the surprising revelations behind all of these questions and many more using the mathematician's method of analyzing life and exposing the hard won insights of the academic community to the layman minus the jargon Ellenberg chases mathematical threads through a vast range of time and space from the everyday to the cosmic encountering among other things baseball Reaganomics daring lottery schemes Voltaire the replicability crisis in psychology Italian Renaissance painting artificial languages the development of non Euclidean geometry the coming obesity apocalypse Antonin Scalia s views on crime and punishment the psychology of slime molds what Facebook can and can t figure out about you and the existence of God Ellenberg pulls from history as well as from the latest theoretical developments to provide those not trained in math with the knowledge they need Math as Ellenberg says is an atomic powered prosthesis that you attach to your common sense vastly multiplying its reach and strength With the tools of mathematics in hand you can understand the world in a deeper more meaningful way How Not to Be Wrong will show you how Distilling Ideas Brian P. Katz,Michael Starbird,2021-09-01 Mathematics is not a spectator sport successful students of mathematics grapple with ideas for themselves Distilling Ideas presents a carefully designed sequence of exercises and theorem statements that challenge students to create proofs and concepts As students meet these challenges they discover strategies of proofs and strategies of thinking beyond mathematics In other words Distilling Ideas helps its users to develop the skills attitudes and habits of mind of a mathematician and to enjoy the process of distilling and exploring ideas Distilling Ideas is an ideal textbook for a first proof based course The text engages the range of students preferences and aesthetics through a corresponding variety of interesting mathematical content from graphs groups and epsilon delta calculus Each topic is accessible to users without a background in abstract mathematics because the concepts arise from asking questions about everyday experience All the common proof structures emerge as natural solutions to authentic needs Distilling Ideas or any subset of its chapters is an ideal resource either for an organized Inquiry Based Learning course or for individual study Teaching Children Mathematics ,2003 Becoming Literate in Mathematics and Science ,2001 Thinking Mathematically ,2014 The Math Gene Keith Devlin,2001-05-17 If people are endowed with a number instinct similar to the language instinct as recent research suggests then why can t everyone do math In The Math Gene mathematician and popular writer Keith Devlin attacks both sides of this question Devlin offers a breathtakingly new theory of language development that describes how language evolved in two stages and how its main purpose was not communication Devlin goes on to show that the ability to think mathematically arose out of the same symbol manipulating ability that was so crucial to the very first emergence of true language Why then can t we do math as well as we speak The answer says Devlin is that we can and do we just don t recognize when we re using mathematical reasoning The Adventures of Penrose, the Mathematical Cat Theoni Pappas,1997 Penrose the cat explores and experiences a variety of mathematical concepts including infinity the golden rectangle and impossible figures
