Grief Advice for Women Cosima Weise, 2019-04-05 Women and grief Death is always sudden It rips people out of their usual routine and turns their life upside down from one second to the next In death it makes no difference whether the bereaved have been able to prepare themselves for the death of a loved one for some time or whether the news hits them suddenly and unexpectedly When someone close to you dies it always feels as though the rug has been pulled out from under your feet Sure it's certainly comforting if you've had enough time to talk to the deceased or resolve possible conflicts with them But ultimately it doesn't matter whether you were able to prepare for your final goodbyes or if it happens out of the blue there'll always be a gap and you need to learn to live with it Grief is the natural response to such a loss and is as individual as us humans Grief is shaped by the relationship you had with the deceased And it also depends on just how close this relationship was This short guide is a first quick aid on the path of grieving My condolences and sympathy

The Erotics of Grief Megan Moore, 2021-09-15 The Erotics of Grief considers how emotions propagate power by exploring whose lives are grieved and what kinds of grief are valuable within and eroticized by medieval narratives Megan Moore argues that grief is not only routinely eroticized in medieval literature but that it is a foundational emotion of medieval elite culture Focusing on the concept of grief as desire Moore builds on the history of the emotions and Georges Bataille's theory of the erotic as the conflict between desire and death one that perversely builds a sense of community organized around a desire for death The link between desire and death serves as an affirmation of living communities Moore incorporates literary visual and codicological evidence in sources from across the Mediterranean from Old French chansons de geste such as the Song of Roland and La mort le roi Artu and romances such as Erec et Enide Philomena and Floire et Blancheflor to Byzantine and ancient Greek novels to Middle English travel narratives such as Mandeville's Travels In her reading of the performance of grief as one of community and remembrance Moore assesses why some lives are imagined as mattering more than others and explores how a language of grief becomes a common language of status among the medieval Mediterranean elite

Grieving Beyond Gender Kenneth J. Doka, Terry L. Martin, 2011-01-19 Grieving Beyond Gender Understanding the Ways Men and Women Mourn is a revision of Men Don't Cry Women Do Transcending Gender Stereotypes of Grief In this work Doka and Martin elaborate on their conceptual model of styles or patterns of grieving a model that has generated both research and acceptance since the publication of the first edition in 1999 In that book as well as in this revision Doka and Martin explore the different ways that individuals grieve noting that gender is only one factor that affects an individual's style or pattern of grief The book differentiates intuitive grievers where the pattern is more affective from instrumental grievers who grieve in a more cognitive and behavioral way while noting other patterns that might be more blended or dissonant The model is firmly grounded in social science theory and research A particular strength of the work is the emphasis placed on the clinical implications of the model on the ways that different types of grievers might best be supported through individual counseling or group support
