Writing To Learn:

Writing to Learn William Zinsser, 2013-04-30 This is an essential book for everyone who wants to write clearly about any subject and use writing as a means of learning Learning to Write/writing to Learn John Sawyer Mayher, Nancy Lester, Nancy B. Lester, Gordon M. Pradl, 1983 Learning to Write Writing to Learn provides a basic guide to writing as a way of learning drawing the reader into an expanded notion of what writing is and how it is created As you read the chapters the ideas seem at first only a synthesis of masters like Elbow Emig Murray Graves Britton and Moffett But upon closer look there is more to the book than a litany of already published ideas Mayher Lester and Pradl use their own means of organization to extend the dialogue to present concerns The book is like a long description of what a good writing class writing group or writing institute can be Writing = Learning Brenton Doecke, Graham Parr, 2005 Affirming the professional knowledge practice and engagement of teachers in the face of recurring media attacks on their profession this examination of the role of writing in various teaching and learning contexts by English teachers provides richly reflective perspectives on the relationship between the writing and learning of both students and professionals Learning to Write, Writing to Learn Roselmina Indrisano, Jeanne R. Paratore, 2005 Presents a comprehensive guide to understanding the basic principles of good writing instruction and contains samples of student work and more Teaching Writing in the Content Areas Vicki Urquhart, Monette McIver, 2005 This book examines nearly 30 years of research to identify how teachers can incorporate writing instruction that helps students master the course content and improve their overall achievement Building on the recommendations of the National Commission on Writing authors Vicki Urquhart and Monette McIver introduce four critical issues teachers should address when they include writing in their content courses Creating a positive environment for the feedback and guidance students need at various stages including prewriting drafting revising and editing Monitoring and assessing how much students are learning through their writing Choosing computer programs that best enhance the writing process Strengthening their knowledge of course content and their own writing skills Writing and Learning Anne Ruggles Gere, 1985 From the preface There are two major sections in this book reflecting the difference between learning to write and writing to show learning The first part of the book concentrates on learning to write It begins with a discussion of what writing is suggests ways of starting to write considers the role of audience in writing and then examines strategies for drafting These strategies are arranged in order of difficulty and each builds on the previous one so that for example argument or writing to convince includes strategies of narration and explanation Exploratory writing comes last in this section because it is the most difficult and inclusive kind of writing The exercises throughout these chapters provide opportunities to use what has just been learned and suggestions for further writing invite more extensive prose Part two focuses on writing to show learning by discussing strategies for revising These strategies include rereading entire pieces of writing in terms of organization cohesion and style reshaping paragraphs and sentences and polishing writing to conform with conventions of spelling punctuation capitalization usage and accepted formats such as documentation style The index provides easy reference for questions about writing page ix
