The Humanity of Cities John Gulick,1989 I recommend this book highly to social scientists who are looking for a review or refresher course in urbanology advanced undergraduate students and introductory graduate students As our American college student bodies become more culturally diverse The Humanity of Cities provides a welcome respite from the usual culture bound texts that give limited attention for effect only of the stereotypical Third World

Contemporary Sociology Gulick s style is to develop each topic by presenting appropriate case studies He manages to include an enormous range of studies and he wisely reaches out beyond anthropology to the many fields that concern themselves with urban life This book is consequently an excellent compilation of the recent history of theoretical and empirical research on an in cities The 28 page bibliography is itself a tour de force American Anthropologist Combining major urban theories with empirical studies from around the world the author offers poignant glimpses into urban life including the streets of San Francisco as seen through the eyes of a proud garbage collector the marketplace of Ibadan as seen by a petty food trader the curiously empty streets of Fun city a California retirement community and Cairo s teeming cemetery the City of the Dead filling with the living The problems of urban life are shown to be more a result of worldwide forces rather than the intrinsic nature of cities This major new and timely contribution to the field is a most useful way to introduce urban scholars planners and students in a variety of disciplines to The Humanity of Cities A complete teachers manual makes this the perfect text

A History of World Societies: From the French Revolution to the present (Chapters 25-40) John P. McKay,1988

Third World Urbanization J. Abu-Lughod,R. Jr Hay,2013-07-04 First published in 2006 Despite the growing significance of the Third World and the critical nature of its urbanization there are few synthetic books covering more than one region of the Third World which can be used either by scholars seeking an overview of the process of world urbanization or by students in the growing number of courses now being offered in the field of comparative urbanism The most distressing problem was that the field of urbanization particularly with reference to developing countries seemed to us to have stagnated at theoretically sterile conceptualizations or even worse had deteriorated into fragmented empirical descriptive reports whether observing with sympathy or noting with alarm the rapidly declining condition of individual cities This book attempts to rectify this deficiency

Cities, Poverty, and Development Alan Gilbert,Josef Gugler,1992 It is expected that by the end of the decade only the poorest cities in Asia and Africa will still be predominantly rural This book seeks to explain this urban revolution and to show how people survive in the cities why they move from the country side and what involvement they have in politics

Globalization and the Sustainability of Cities in the Asia Pacific Region Fu-chen Lo,Peter Marcotullio,2001 This collection of essays examines the sustainability concerns surrounding social and environmental conditions in the major cities of the Asia Pacific region Issues considered include globalisation foreign direct investment international migration and the changing pattern of cities The second part of the book focuses on particular types of cities with case studies post industrial capital exporting cities such as Tokyo and Seoul borderless cities such as Hong Kong and Singapore industrial cities such as Shanghai and Bangkok and amenity cities such as Sydney

The Energy Alternative Walter C. Patterson,1990 The story of a revolution in the way we think about energy and what we do with it this book explains why the revolution is taking place and what it will mean to individuals By the author of Nuclear Power this work is tied to a three part Grampian TV series to be shown in July 1990

Discipling the City Roger S. Greenway,1979

What Drives Third World City Growth? Allen C. Kelley,Nancy Burley,2014-07-14 The book shows that earlier studies exaggerated the effects of rural land scarcity foreign capital inflows and population growth on Third World urbanization More critical were imbalances of productivity advance across sectors and terms of trade between primary products and manufactures Originally published in 1984 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
