Soviet Military Conversion United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Armed Services,1991 Transformation in Russian and Soviet Military History Carl W. Reddel,1990 The Political Economy of Military Conversion in the Soviet Union Gregory Michael Fields,1991 Moscow Dmz Glenn E. Schweitzer, As the Soviet Union was collapsing in late 1991 reports began to reach the West about agents shopping for weapons systems and weapons scientists in the beleaguered Soviet military industrial complex In response the United States the European Community and Japan in cooperation with the Russian government created a program to reemploy Soviet scientific personnel in civilian projects dealing with the legacy of the Soviet system a polluted environment unsafe nuclear power facilities and economic underdevelopment In this fascinating first person account the American environmental scientist who led the effort to establish the International Science and Technology Center in Moscow tells the diplomatic scientific and human story behind a remarkable post Cold War conversion initiative Konversiya - Conversion in Soviet Military Industry ,1990 Transformation in Russian and Soviet Military History Carl W. Reddel,2002-07-01 Conversion Anke Brunn,Lutz Baehr,Hans-Jürgen Karpe,2012-12-06 CONVERSION in the meantime the term for the process of converting arms industry into industrial production of non military goods is becoming a key subject in the building of the eastern economies These Proceedings contain all important presentations of an international Conference in Dortmund in 1992 Speakers were well known experts from economy politics science and military thus this book gives an up to date excellent overview Soviet Military Psychiatry Richard A. Reddel,1990 Soviet Armed Forces Review Annual ,1993 Soviet Defense Industry Julian Cooper,1991 Transformation in Russian and Soviet Military History United States Air Force Academy,1990 Soviet Military Reform in the Twentieth Century Raymond J. Swider,1992-11-30 This concise history of the major military reforms in the Soviet Union in the twentieth century fills an essential gap in scholarly studies on the subject and provides a model for analyzing past and future doctrine force structure and technology and command and control tactics This study should be a benchmark for measuring and identifying reforms in three key periods It is intended for historians and analysts in military affairs political scientists and scholars dealing with Soviet Russian and the new independent states in the region

This invaluable history analyzes three periods of fundamental reform. The Frunze reforms of the mid 1920s laid the institutional basis for the Red Army enabling it to develop into an integrated and professional army. The post World War II reforms and the process of demobilization and mobilization permitted the Soviet Union to remain a nation under arms without hobbling its economy. The revolution in military affairs in the Krushchev era illustrated Soviet accommodation to technological changes in warfare. And finally the process of reform and imperatives for reform are evident in the Gorbachev programs of perestroika and glasnost which were cut short. The case studies are made against a backdrop of external and internal politics and economics. Currently the centralized Soviet structures are disintegrating along lines by which they were developed earlier. Whatever the future military reform and reorganization will relate closely to past practice. There are many similarities between past and present challenges and many lessons to be learned.

Transformation in Russian and Soviet military history, Moscow DMZ: The Story of the International Effort to Convert Russian Weapons Science to Peaceful Purposes Glenn E. Schweitzer, 2016-09-16. As the Soviet Union was collapsing in late 1991 reports began to reach the West about agents shopping for weapons systems and weapons scientists in the beleaguered Soviet military industrial complex. In response the United States, the European Community and Japan in cooperation with the Russian government created a program to reemploy Soviet scientific personnel in civilian projects dealing with the legacy of the Soviet system: a polluted environment, unsafe nuclear power facilities and economic underdevelopment. In this fascinating first person account the American environmental scientist who led the effort to establish the International Science and Technology Center in Moscow tells the diplomatic, scientific and human story behind a remarkable post Cold War conversion initiative.

Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists, 1991-01. The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security. Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists, the Bulletin's iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world.

Transforming Russia Tarja Cronberg, 2003. The de tooling and conversion of the vast Soviet defence industry following the end of the Cold War and collapse of the Soviet Union is vital for Russian political, economic and social regeneration and stability and has huge implications for international relations and the world economy. Tarja Cronberg's original study is based on an empirical examination of all aspects of the Soviet military technical establishment and is firmly grounded in political and social theory.
