Spatial Factor In African History:

The Spatial Factor in African History, 2004-11-01 The authors of this inter disciplinary collection examine the role of space in six areas of West Central and East Africa during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries They demonstrate the active quality of space and analyze the ways in which people have contested and shaped space including responses to crises In addition a lengthy essay re interprets tropical African history 1800 1930 using spatial theory Contributors look at how people have constructed mental maps used discourse to organize territories and perceived social landscapes The studies employ a tri level approach one that moves from specific places to regions to macro regional or transnational systems and back again Authors draw upon written and oral sources to reconstruct the past and employ innovative mapping techniques to illustrate spatial dynamics

African Thresholds: Borders and Places of Passage in Africa, c.1450 to Present, 2025-06-19 The Open Access publication of this book has been made possible by the Swiss National Science Foundation What is a border and why does it exist Reappraising a key idea from Arnold van Gennep s Les rites de passage this book argues that a border is a threshold a limen made to be crossed African Thresholds studies places of passage spanning from the riverine networks of Senegambia to border making in colonial Gold Coast and Cote d Ivoire from the desert roads of central southern Africa to river heartlands in colonial Togo from flows of cowrie shells across the Volta River to insurgent borderities in the Lake Chad In a time when state borders are increasingly shut this book aims to show us that a border is made by those who cross it as much as by those who stand by it Contributors are Ettore Morelli Fernando Mouta Pierluigi Valsecchi Mar a Jos Pont Ch fer Giulia Casentini and Aim Raoul Sumo Tayo

Respacing Africa Ulf Engel, Paul Nugent, 2010 Space has been reintroduced as an analytical category to the humanities and social sciences in the early 1990s African Studies is one of the fields of knowledge production where the so called spatial turn has proved to be extremely fruitful The continent provides ample evidence for complex processes of deterritorialisation migration globalisation sub nationalisms and reterritorialisation new regionalisms processes of bordering etc These dialectical processes are driven by a variety of actors political elites multinational companies warlords donor governments local traders international NGOs etc As a result substantial parts of Africa witness the emergence of new regimes of territoriality re ordered states transnational and sub national entities new localities and transborder formations This volume brings together contributions from anthropology history geography and political science

Climate Change Adaptation in Africa Gufu Oba, 2014-07-11 In the context of growing global concerns about climate change this book presents a regional and sub continental synthesis of pastoralists responses to past environmental changes and reflects on the lessons for current and future environmental challenges Drawing from rock art archaeology paleoecological data trade ancient hydrological technology vegetation social memory and historical documentation this book creates detailed reconstructions of past climate change adaptations across Sahelian Africa It evaluates the present and future challenges to climate change adaptation in the region in terms of social memory rainfall variability environmental change and armed conflicts and examines the ways in which governance and policy drivers may undermine pastoralists adaptive strategies The book s scope covers the Red Sea coast Somaliland Somalia the Ogaden region of Ethiopia and northern Kenya part of the Ethiopian highlands and Eritrea areas where past climate change has been extreme and future change makes it vital to understand the dynamics of adaptation This book will be of interest to students and scholars of environmental history human ecology geography climate change environment studies development studies pastoralism anthropology and African studies

The Paradox of Protection Trina Leah Hogg,2025-11-01 The Paradox of Protection The Making of Indirect Rule in Southern Sierra Leone 1850 1915 charts the history of protection to tell a new story about indirect rule in West Africa Protection emerged as one of the central concepts through which Africans and Britons negotiated over law and economy in decades spanning informal and formal rule Hogg shows how British protection schemes an assemblage of written and unwritten legal strategies to safeguard British subjects and trade routes created an unexpected legacy of insecurity by limiting and criminalizing traditional security measures Tracing the history of the politics of protection reveals how African leaders who sought British alliances in their own long standing disputes became increasingly vulnerable to physical and juridical violence In the Protectorate new forums like chieftaincy elections and criminal courts common features of indirect rule became spaces for Africans to assert claims to land and construct legitimacy This book reveals how long standing negotiations over protection shaped an unstable framework of colonial law and rule well into the twentieth century

A History of Borno Vincent Hiribarren,2017-02-17 A history of an ancient Sahelian kingdom whose hinterland is now being laid waste by the Boko Haram insurgency

The International Journal of African Historical Studies ,2008 Power and State Formation in West Africa ,2011-12-15 Looks at the political and social history of the Gold Coast in West Africa from the early 16th century to the second half of the 18th The book examines how political entities in Nzema were structured territorially as well as the formation of ruling groups and aspects of their political economic and military actions

The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary Middle Eastern and North African History Jens Hanssen,Amal N. Ghazal,2020-11-30 The Oxford Handbook of Contemporary Middle Eastern and North African History critically examines the defining processes and structures of historical developments in North Africa and the Middle East over the past two centuries The Handbook pays particular attention to countries that have leapt out of the political shadows of dominant and better studied neighbours in the course of the unfolding uprisings in the Middle East and North Africa These dramatic and interconnected developments have exposed the dearth of informative analysis available in surveys and textbooks particularly on Tunisia Libya Yemen Bahrain and Syria

African and Asian Studies ,2005 History in Africa ,2006 The Changing Worlds of Atlantic Africa Toyin Falola,Matt D. Childs,2009 Robin Law represents the best of the generation that emerged during one of the most eventful and exciting periods in African history and historiography This book offers an assessment of his scholarship most notably as an historian of Africa through explorations of his work in pre colonial

West African history his methodological approaches to African history his scholarship on transatlantic slavery in particular and his work on diasporic topics and the study of changing identities produced by Atlantic slavery The book supplies an ongoing dialogue with the waves of scholarship stimulated by the work of Robin Law by a remarkable cast of scholars who occupy the leading roles in their areas of specialization

A Geography of Jihad Stephanie Zehnle, 2020 This book addresses the Jihad movement that created the largest African state of the 19th century the Sokoto Caliphate existing for 99 years from 1804 until its military defeat by European colonial troops in 1903 The author carves out the entanglements of jihadist ideology and warfare with geographical concepts at Africa s periphery of the Islamic world geographical knowledge about the boundary between the Land of Islam and the Land of War the pre colonial construction of the Muslim and the unbeliever and the transfer of ideas between political elites and mobile actors traders pilgrims slaves soldiers whose reports helped shape new definitions of the African frontier of Islam Research for this book is based on the study of a very wide range of Arabic and West African Hausa Fulfulde manuscripts Their policies reveal the persistent reciprocity of jihadist warfare and territorial statehood of Africa and the Middle East Stephanie Zehnle is Assistant Professor JProf of Extra European History at Kiel University Christian Albrechts Universit t Her work on African and trans continental history includes research on the history of Islam human animal relations and comics in Africa

Imagining Serengeti Jan Bender Shetler, 2007 Long before the creation of the Serengeti National Park in Tanzania the people of the western Serengeti had established settlements and interacted with the environment in ways that created a landscape we now misconstrue as natural Western Serengeti peoples imagine the environment not as a pristine wilderness but as a differentiated social landscape that embodies their history and identity Conservationist literature has ignored these now displaced peoples and relegated them to the margins of modern society Their oral traditions however provide the means for seeing the landscape from a new perspective Imagining Serengeti allows us to see the Serengeti landscape as a book of memory that preserves the ways in which western Serengeti peoples have actively transformed their environment and their societies Moreover it strengthens the case for involving local communities in conservation efforts that will preserve African environments for the future Using a new methodology to analyze precolonial oral traditions Jan Shetler identifies core spatial images which are then recontextualized into historical time periods through the use of archaeological linguistic ethnographic ecological and archival evidence Imagining Serengeti reconstructs a socioenvironmental history of landscape memory of the western Serengeti spanning the last eighteen hundred years
